'Negro Moves In: Panic!'

WC 'Rights' March Placid

Hey, Kids, Can We Come Along?

As all you parents know school is just around the corner and (come on now, be honest with yourself) don't you get a little melancholy about it all?

Remember those good old school days. You didn't have any problems but your father sure did. After all, the country was just banging its way out of the depression.

WELL, what was so great about those school days?

Plenty. We had a terrific crush on the kindergarten teacher and the one in the third grade. And the tears flowed when friends had to switch schools.

How about that first Valentine party? The cards were all properly marked, but we handed them out left and right—to anyone. Then there was that mean kid whom we tangled with one afternoon behind the schoolhouse. Plenty of wild blows, but no one got hurt—and we went off for an ice cream cone, together.

HEH, how about that first Christmas play you appeared in. You knew you'd be the star when the selections were made, there you found yourself—smack in the third row of the choir.

Remember the first coy looks you began casting at girls? Let's see, about what grade did that start happening?

Today you're enmeshed in taxes, commuting, paying the bills, pondering when the vacation loan money will be paid, the possibility of a new stove.

But for a moment, forget 'em.

TAKE a look at your own son. He's popped into the house from a "neat" ball game. The jeans are tattered and frazzled. His hair is askew. And hungry, you bet he is.

And how about that daughter of yours. Pretty as a picture, isn't she? Hmmm, wonder if she's interested in boys yet. She still likes her dolls.

Well, mister, they're going off to school next week.

And Ma Talks . . .

We love them in the summer,
We love them when it's cool—
But we love them best of all
The day they start back to school.

The way Mom will feel after she sees her wee one off next Tuesday (or Wednesday in Orinda) is relative.

MOM CRIES. Cynthia Sue tugs onto what she can grab. (Mom is wearing stretch pants and it's harder to hold than apron strings.) Cynthia Sue becomes hysterical.

It is very sad—if not pathetic.

IF MOM happens to be sending off the last of five sons to kindergarten, she is jubilant. No. 5 son is pretty ecstatic himself.

He has seen four big brothers make the leap and he thought the day would never come that he, too, would start on the road to Little League and Cub Scouting.

No. 5 has set his alarm clock for 6 a.m. He packs his own lunch bucket—It's a little beat up as the older boys have used it.

"SO LONG," he yells to Mom who hasn't quite got her eyes open yet. He skips down to the bus stop and waits for half-an-hour for the big, exciting ride to school.

Does Mom shed a tear? She calls some of the girls in the neighborhood and invites them to a "Happy First day of School" party.

Duffel-Smoot Medic Building Decision Due

Permit request for the hotly contested Orinda medical-professional building proposed by Duffel - Smoot will be decided September 10 at 9:45 a.m. by the county board of supervisors. The hearing will be closed.

Proposed site is the corner of Camino Encinas and Moraga Way.

At the last public hearing August 22, Joe Duffel appeared in his own behalf.

FRANK BROWN represented the Camino de Moraga Homeowners Association, opponents of any use of the land other than residential. Howard Dauphinee, a resident of the area, also appeared in opposition.

Several in the audience had made the trek to the Hall of Records in Martinez to let their objections be known.

The site at 12 Camino Encinas is now zoned residential. It is occupied by Duffel's sister and brother-in-law, the James Phillips.

Brown read a letter from the Oak Springs Homeowners Association voicing its objection to granting of a land use permit.

The homeowners expressed the belief that the supervisors' decision will have bearing on whether the residential character of the community is maintained.

WHEN THE question was raised as to whether the medical-professional building was the full intenion of the developers, Duffel became indignant and offended.

He said that the proposed building; and that it would create a traffic hazard.

"Once and for all, this building will stop commercial encroachment down Camino Encinas."

El Toyonal Stop Light Will Go In

Work will begin next Thursday on the installation of a traffic signal at Camino Pablo and El Toyonal intersection. Target date for completion is October 25.

The county board of supervisors recently awarded the contract to Construction Contracts Company of Walnut Creek. They submitted a low bid of $11,300.

TWO OTHER bids were received. The engineer's estimated cost of construction was $15,300.

Community pressure by the Orinda Association and residents of the area caused the public works department to give priority to the El Toyonal signal over the Santa Maria and Camino Pablo intersection, according to a county official.

A letter written by Mrs. Margaret Ford of El Toyonal renewed the association's interest in the traffic situation at this crossing.

THREE LITTLE girls returning home from school narrowly missed injury and one of them was spun around by the car. This incident heightened community interest.

The county public works department requested that the El Toyonal signal be included in the budget instead of the Santa Maria signal, which had top priority.

This signal will be a modern traffic actuated installation, normally showing green for Camino Pablo, changing only where there is either automobile or pedestrian demand.

Demonstration Foot Parade Brings Out 107

By DICK HOUSE

Demonstrations were peaceful Wednesday in the first civil rights march made in Walnut Creek.

More than 100 marchers, carrying placards, walked from Las Lomas High School to Walnut Creek City Hall.

To show support for the national civil rights march in Washington.

To express support of President Kennedy's civil rights program, and

To protest "de facto" segregation in the Walnut Creek area and to support the Rumford Fair Housing Bill.

The marchers were a homogeneous group, including high school and college students, housewives, businessmen and ministers.

Organizer of the march was Daliel Leite, 18, a Diablo Valley College student. He began organizing the demonstration Monday, gaining commitments from 20 persons. He was obviously pleased with the turnout of 107.

"THE DEMONSTRATION was planned as an opportunity for men of good will to witness their beliefs in the equality of men," Leite said.

"The group was not sponsored by any organization, was not political, was non-sectarian and not directly connected with any religious body," Leite said. "The participants were students, adults and local religious leaders."

CONCERNING "de facto" segregation in the Walnut Creek area, Leite pointed out that a survey a year ago showed that Negroes found it difficult, if not impossible at times, to buy a home here.

In light of this, he charged, housing discrimination does exist.

There are no local chapters of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), nor Congress on Racial Equality (CORE), Leite said.

There is, he said, but one active integration group, the Fair Play Council. The council, a central county citizens' organization, recently surveyed realtors and found that "discrimination does indeed exist in Walnut Creek, Concord, Lafayette and Pleasant Hill."

The report also showed about 15 Negro families in the county's central area.

MASS DEMONSTRATION — Where but 20 were expected, 107 turned out Wednesday for a civil rights march in Walnut Creek. The demonstration was in support of the giant rights march on Washington and of the administration's civil rights program. The march also protested "de facto" housing segregation in the central county area.

Explorers Go To Confab

Randall A. Krenek, 28 Whitehall Drive, Orinda and David Ferguson, 92 Devin Drive, Moraga were among Explorer Scouts and their leaders who participated in the first annual International Explorer Conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints at Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah, Aug. 23-28.

More than 3500 boys of high school age attended the conference. During the week the youths received instructions in citizenship, physical and personal fitness and exploring.

They also took part in group discussions on a wide range of world issues, and held their own talent show.

Rotary District Governor Is Club's Speaker

J. Price Gittinger, district governor of Rotary, was guest speaker at Orinda Rotary's noon meeting Wednesday at Mike Lynn's.

Gittinger reviewed the principles upon which Rotary is founded: club, community, vocational and international service.

President Stan Massie was also program chairman.

Gittinger pointed out that there are now 11,578 Rotary Clubs in 129 countries.

International service is at the present the most important of Rotary principles due to unrest throughout the world, according to Gittinger.

E. W. Henritti of "Success Motivation, Inc." will be next week's speaker. Clarence Betz will be the program chairman.

Weatherman Turns On Heat

True to form, the weatherman is turning on the heat when it's time for the kids to return to school Wednesday next. Following are the weekly temperature readings:

	High	Low
Friday	67	46
Saturday	74	42
Sunday	82	45
Monday	88	47
Tuesday	87	50
Wednesday	86	48
Thursday	83	49

SIGNS OF THE TIMES— Placards announcing their aims are carried by civil rights marchers in a large, but peaceful, demonstration in Walnut Creek Wednesday.

Orinda Jaycees Asked To Enforce Civil Rights

By JANE PUTNAM

At the Orinda crossroads, on the eve of "The March on the Capital," a pro-integrationist made a strong pitch for civil rights.

Frank Quinn, executive director of the Council for Civic Unity of San Francisco, addressed an 8 p.m. meeting of the Orinda Junior Chamber of Commerce. Mike Gibberson was program chairman.

ABOUT 50 PEOPLE gathered in the banquet room at Casa Orinda to hear Quinn. His topic was "What Happens When a Negro Moves Into a White Neighborhood?"

During open discussion following the hour-long speech, the audience proved to be largely (and politely) antagonistic.

The thing that gets a neighborhood excited (in an area such as exists in the central county) —even more than adultery or embezzlement, said Quinn, is to see a "for sale' 'sign go up. And then see black faces go through the home . . . They don't have to move in—just look.

"WHY IS IT, in mid twentieth century America, that this sort of event can panic a neighborhood?"

"Today, we can no longer be color blind. We have to become color conscious," he said. "White people have to talk to whites to enlighten them."

Quinn called for local groups such as the Orinda Jaycees to "police" their area to enforce civil rights legislation. He said that Americans should feel guilty for the wrongs done the Negroes in past history and should overcompensate for them.

"IF YOU WANT to take simple action, call a realtor and say 'I hope you won't discriminate' . . . Write letters . . ."

The choice Quinn outlined was to remain where you are and still be a part of the problem, to flounder; or to conquer and move on to some more vital issue.

He described the home-seller who wouldn't sell to blacks because "I don't want to leave my neighbors a social problem" as a social problem himself.

QUINN SUGGESTED calling some 10 or 15 rental listings and after inquiring as to the specifics, saying :"Does it matter to you that I'm a Negro?"

He cited examples of harassment of non-caucasians who bought or tried to buy homes in the central county. The only way that property values go down when a Negro family moves into a white neighborhood

Where's the Fire?

The Orinda Fire Department covered one end of Orinda to the other answering calls this week. Among them were:

FRIDAY: 3:05 p.m., 37 Charles Hill Road, investigation.

SATURDAY: 6:10 p.m., 10 Claremont Avenue, lockout.

SUNDAY: 8:13 p.m., 1 Moraga Way, flue fire.

MONDAY: 11:05 a.m., 19 Las Dedos, leaf fire; 3:47 p.m., 66 Heather Lane, investigation.

TUESDAY: 4:08 p.m., Charles Hill turnoff, investigation of truck fire; 6:37 p.m., 59 El Gavilan, broken water pipe.

WEDNESDAY: 12:38 p.m., Briones Dam site; assist in accident injuring two men when earth mover overturned.

School Days, School Days

Elementary schools in the Walnut Creek area, Lafayette and Moraga will begin Tuesday.

The seven schools in the Orinda Union School District will begin Wednesday.

The five high schools in the Acalanes Union High School District will start Tuesday.

Suburbia Scribblings

By MARIE MONAHAN

Dial M for Memories . . .

A SLIM little mouse-mutilated edition of the 1938 Orinda telephone book we turned up in our cellar tells a very Big Story.

The story of a favorite summer colony for bay areans that became, in a 25-year span, a sizable & super-dupe Suburbia!

Back in those days, young architect Frederick Confer, was making a name for himself designing "escape cottages" (featured in national home magazines) as well as "Model" homes, the kind to which real estate companies invited you family-style for "dutch lunch" & took you on a leisurely inspection thereof . . .

LOTS were going for $200. per, give or take a little, but who would want to live that "far out in the sticks," complained Oaklanders & Berkeleyans who thought of the area more as a weekend or vacation retreat.

CONFER (as well as Orinda) has come a long way since then. A distinguished industrial architect today, he resides in Walnut Creek. He might like to know that his early homes have "worn well & aged gracefully," according to their present-day owners. He learned early in his career that a little "charm" goes a long way in making a house long-last & livable.

THE TELEPHONE BOOK issued March 1938 contains little over 200 names . . . & the simplicity of 4-digit numbers as in architect Wayne Littlejhon's old number 4896 listed at 93 El Toyonal.

Littlejohn now lives on Ridge Lane in Sleepy Hollow & his first home which he designed, has been the residence for some time of Claire & Ritchie Ward; another house that is just as contemporary & gracious today as it was then when that style of architect was comparatively new.

THE SCANT one & a half-pages of listings starts w/Fred Allen of Monte Vista Rd., & ends w/John P. Zuur, El Toyonal. The name just preceding Zuur's is that of Carl Zamloch at Moraga Rd., which is that handsome red brick, rather formal-facaded house w/the well-pruned hedges & shrubbery.

We're getting nowhere fast but the second name down the list is K. R. Allen at 15 La Plaza, the home now occupied by the Ollie Gardners. It was unusual to have a house number in those days & most Orinda addresses were simply "street names." Mrs. E. I. deLaveaga went one better. Her address was simply Orinda . . .

MYRTLE PATTERSON who now presides over Orinda Nursery School presided back then over the puny little postoffice cubbyholed in a corner of the old Orinda Store . . . which then could be likened to the old "corner grocery." Ewart & Virginia Phair, w/their good taste for good things, have come far w/their store since its' Cinderella inception. (We can remember just 10 yrs. ago squeaking a rubber-tired shopping cart over the oily bumpy groaning floors . . . & sometimes still, we miss that . . .)

ACCDG. to Anita Bradley (of Black's), the local moneyed-folk in those days called in their grocery orders to the fine old Piedmont Grocery in Oak., who did the all-day bit delivering the big orders out here. Anita & son Don (now of Phair's) a few yrs. later, around 1943, operated their own grocery market, Bradley's, but it went under w/the cloverleaf & the construction of the freeway cut a swath right through the store's aisles.

I've got your number . . .

AH, THE SIMPLE LIFE! Jerry & Lu Grimes who were among the first residents in the El Toyonal-Loma Vista sector (on Mariposa Lane) were straight out from New York & looking for a spot to live. Jerry suggested Lu look at the model home high in our hills (you could see it from all over; and still can!) so Lu hunted in vain, not just for the house, but for Orinda. Pulling up in her automobile to the old gas pump in the village (Orinda Richfield), she asked the directions to Orinda. "Lady, you're IN it!" was the young man's retort & shortly thereafter, the Grimeses were welcomed as the 102nd residents of this sparsely settled area. Lu Grimes now welcomes Newcomers as a hostess for "Courtesy Calls."

El Toyonal & Loma Vista were winding dirt roads & you could count the residents on one hand up & down hill . . . There was Charlie & Louise Malone, for instance, who bought their property (where the Burketts live today) & literally built the house themselves, "camping out" while their place was constructed bit by bit. No gas, no electricity.

Before his illness (& subsequent move to Berkeley) Charlie Malone would tell me that in those days he could have bought the "whole darn hill" for the same money he put into building his house. Maybe so . . . for who drempt then of such a fabulous future for this bit of far-out Utopia?

The rest of the A's in the book incl. E. M. Armstrong, Jr. at 16 Vallecito Lane, M. R. Armstrong, Herbert Atkinson on La Campana, & George Ayrault, Orchard Rd. . . . & that was it for the A's . . .

Baker, Ballachey, Bates & Bausch are the next B's preceding artist Lonie Bee, long-timer of La Noria Drive whose old number was 5946 . . .

Chas. Hiram Bennett & George S. Bennett were both listed next on Camino Sobrante & more familiar names interwoven w/strange & alien ones—Berry, Blumb, Breuner, & God Bless him, the late George Brockhurst of El Toyonal.

Kitty-corner from Brockhurst's famous Acre' in the 3-story stucco by Canon Drive (where the WORTH family live now) a once-famous country inn or restaurant was housed; but that must have been 'way back for no one remembers its name.

Dr. Alexander Brown lived in our home then & first owners were the A. S. Guerards who had just built at Camino Sobrante across from the rolling greens beyond Miner Rd. . . .

AT THE RATE we're going, this will take two columns, which isn't a bad idea since we're off to the seashore & won't be up on any news much, anyhow. I don't know about you, but I'm awfully nosy about this nice place called Orinda.

WE'RE, on yes, A, B, now to the C's, starting w/Stuart V. Campbell, 15 Dias Dorados followed by J. A. Carles, North Ln nr Ardilla Rd. . . .

Carlson, Cary, Cathcart, Chantler followed by Prof. Chas. E. Chapman at Via Farallon . . . Chase, Cleborne, Corbett, & a Joe T. Cotton or Ardilla at a no. 19 which doesn't appear there today. Or does it? You don't suppose it was Moviestar Cotton he lived nr. us 12 yrs. ago in Pacific Palisades . . .)

The CRAVIOTTO Market was listed on Tunnel Rd. preceded by Thos. Cowles, George Crary . . . & followed by Crosby, Cross & the well-known Cutter clan & on to the D's . . .

DARR, Dana & we come to E. A. Dawson, long-time Orindans, who still live at the same address. Mrs. Dawson retired recently after 20 yrs. w/th Post office.

DENNIS, Dibbern, Dieterich, Dolio, Donaldson, Douglas, Duncan, Dunham & Dunn (the latter one of the few listings on Chas. Hill Rd.) put a fini to the D's . . . Donaldson retired, too.

Of E's there were only 3. THREE! & you could say Edson, Elkinton & Elvidge before you could say Wrong, Number, Operator, Operator, please get me the Operator!

FAGEOL, Farrar (now the Merritt Herring's home) Fatooh, Fee & Fleager (William & Clarence) famous name hereabouts, complete the list except for a Forsburg on Canon Dr. & a John Fowle on La Espiral.

Let's whizz through G's, Gee Whiz! Only 8 which incl. Miss Graham's Riding Academy (in heart of village midblock where Richfield is today) & H. L. Gilkey (designer of California Spring Garden show, no?) There was Kenneth Gelwix on Mira Loma, William Gilman on Los Altos, Goodale, Gordon & Griffin & aforementioned attorney Guerards, our home's original owners.

New Look To Start Fall Semester

When the kids return Wednesday to the seven schools in the Orinda district, there will be many changes apparent.

The familiar "old Orinda School green" has disappeared. It has been painted teal blue.

ORINDA SCHOOL was renovated this summer by the district under the supervision of Richard King, industrial arts teacher. All classrooms, offices and halls were repainted—as well as the "old green" exterior.

A number of desks were refinished with formica tops. Six rooms received new sinks.

MRS. RUTH GILWEE, school trustee, with Keith Burnham, principal of Orinda School, chose colors for the new scheme.

The halls are white and brown. Some rooms are beige, blue, yellow, ivory, gray. The kindergarten is gray and peach. Cabinets and framework are in complementary colors. Tack boards are finished in light brown zolatone (highlights) giving speckled look.

KING'S CREW also tackled Pine Grove School's exterior. It is no more the familiar rustic brown. It has been repainted. Trim and window frames are in soft green.

Pine Grove's kitchens and rest rooms are also refinished.

In addition to three new classrooms at Glorietta School, there is a new teachers' parking lot. School offices are redone in a cream color. New cabinets and counters for office areas are being fitted.

GLORIETTA'S kitchen and storerooms are repainted, and desks renovated. The multi-purpose floor has been refinished to a ballroom floor sheen.

The cabinet trim in Glorietta's new addition is pink, blue and yellow.

At Del Rey, there are new carpets for kindergarteners. The 12-by-15-foot nylon and wool carpets will permit the kids to sit on the floor in comfort.

AT SLEEPY HOLLOW, seven classroom floors are refinished to a high gloss.

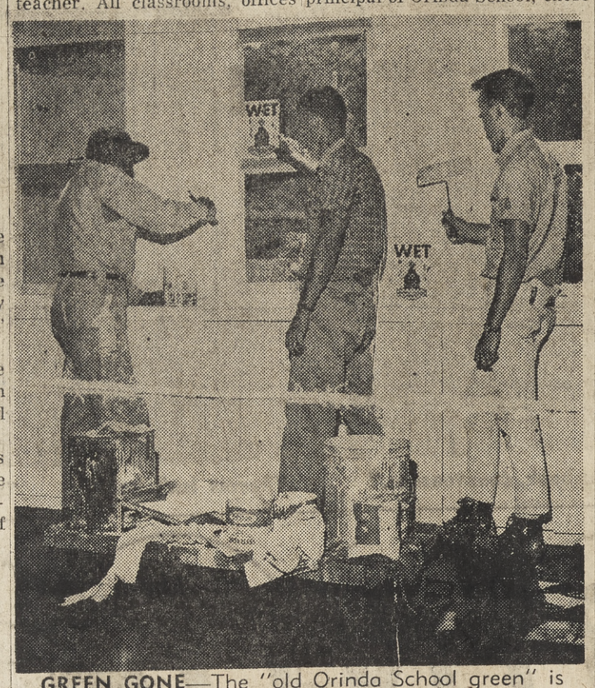
Inland Valley has a student patio installed. The entire plant has been cleaned. And the intermediate school has two classrooms which may be opened by a folding divider wall to provide a large room for team teaching.

Pine Grove and Inland Valley Intermediate Schools have new science equipment which includes odd-shaped high science tables with drawers for microscopes and equipment. There are 10 units, enough to accommodate 40 budding scientists.

AS TO PERSONNEL, there will be 26 new teachers and one new principal. Eugene Ballock is the new principal at IVI.

Sleepy Hollow will convene each day at 8:20 a.m.; otherwise the schedule remains the same.

Each student in the district was informed by mail today of his class assignment and bus pickup time and place. Students who were not so notified should contact the superintendent's office.



GREEN GONE—The "old Orinda School green" is gone. It is now an attractive shade of teal blue. Shown painting the interior of the school are Dick King (center), industrial arts teacher, and helpers.

Miramonte Mirror

Moments to Remember as Summer Turns to Fall . . .

By FRAN OBRECHT AND CAROL MEYER

"As summer turns to winter, the present disappears, the memories we have shared we will cherish through the years." These are the thoughts of many Miramonteens as they experience the four years of high school.

From the incoming freshmen to the graduating seniors the summer months mean jobs, summer school, camps, vacations, plans for college, and most of all FUN.

Mimi Loomis, Kay Williams, Dick Shiery and Mike Gilmore were fortunate enough to be chosen as counselors for the Orinda fifth grade camp . . . Karen Stafford, Pete Boyle, Donna Driscole and Tevis Thomson spent the last two weeks of their summer at the Moraga fifth grade camp. From what we've heard they all had a terrific time.

Also counselling in the Tahoe area was Joanne Warner, while Sue Fernston could be seen traveling through the western states training future cheerleaders. Alison Horne spent the month of August at Cascadero Music Camp, counseling the musically inclined students of the area.

As for jobs in the local area—Fred Neighbor could be found at the Kaiser Building . . . Barbie Brush, Sue Hickoks, and Margo Antonison worked at Ogdens . . . Bonnie Beasley, Pete Boyle, Steve Hampton, Toni Ayres, Karin Nattress, Roxie Smith and Ron Maccario spent many of their evenings working at the Rheem and Orinda Theaters . . . Steve Thaman, Rick Putnam and Tom Murphy could be found at Safeway . . . Gary Griffiths, buzzed about in his Volkswagen bus with the Phair's label . . . Rich Spaitz used his green thumbs at King's Nursery . . . Candy Bettencourt wrote for The Sun (part of vocational training).

Many teens attended the Young Life sessions at Malibu and Colorado. Some of the faces seen boarding the buses for Malibu were Gayle Baker, Chris Hammond, Chris Campbell, Sandy Eames, Gail St. John, Daralyn De Guarda, Cathy Adams, Chris Conners, Judy Trumbly, Crissy Voll (who incidently was Queen of Malibu), and many others.

Colorado bound were Sue Fernsten, Katie Jones, Max Milton, and Bob Martin. Those who got a "free ride" as work crew members were Beth Shepard, Mary Shaffer, Chuck Jones, Nancy Allen, and Sue Brown. Down Redlands way were Gayle Baker and fellow cheerleaders acquiring skills for promotion of next year's spirit.

Vacation spots this year were varied while the ever-popular spot was the Tahoe area. Seen basking in the mountain rays were: Joan Dirickx, Ann Waters, Pam Ferguson, Christi Ferguson, Bob Lyman, Hap Parks, Nancy Snover, Crissy Voll, Karin Nattress, Kathy Meyer, Carol Thomas, Kate Ellis, George Hauer, Paul Locklin, Kay Dunbar, John Lackey, and many others.

Echo Lake was also a popular spot this year. Cindy Hamilton, Toni Ayres, Nancy Miller, Rod Bedayn, Jane Donlon, Candy Jacobs, Patty Moore, and Doug Hamilton were a few of the hearty mountaineers who enjoyed "getting away from it all."

At the "opposite end of the world" were Carol Thompson and Nancy Baker who joined the "natives" of Hawaii. Also on the sandy shores was Katy Dullum. Down Mexico way were Bob Case, Sue Gibson, Sue La Plant, and Terry Coleman.

The graduating seniors of '63 have been busily preparing for college. The final choices have been hard, but the following decisions have been made: U.C.L.A.—Kathy Knudsen, Bob Williams, and Gary Rose; Santa Barbara—Mimi Loomis and Carol Ferguson; Oregon State—Sue Hickcox, Wendy Minor, Cindy Gravelle, and Rod Robinson . . .

San Diego State Barbie Brush, Paul Locklin and George Hauer; U.O.P.—Kay Williams and Bill Hamilton; University of Colorado—Karen Stafford and John Lackey; San Jose State—Mary Hansen and Jackie Edenholm; Fresno State—Sue Fernsten, Katie Jones, and Fred Chilton; San Francisco State—Roxie Smith, Barb Reynolds, and Terry Coleman; University of Nevada—Bruce Nickerson . . .

Cal.—Katy Jones and Bonnie Winters; Yale—Brian Cartwright and Mike Sorem; Occidental—Fred Neighbor. These are just a few of the colleges that the Class of '63 is attending.

All of Orinda and Miramonte would like to extend a welcome to our new foreign exchange students: Makiko (Mako) Iinuma of Japan, who is staying with Betty Lou Liebold and her family; Reingard Mueller of West Germany, who is making her home with Sally Kocher's family; and Edwardo Bellio, who is living with Rich Kay and his family.

Today the incoming Freshmen had their first taste of high school life. They were introduced to the Student Body Officers, Pom-Pom girls, the Cheerleaders and their new schedules. Good Luck Frosh????

Last, but far from least, we would like to wish last year's Miramonte Mirror columnists, Jackie Edenholm and Karen Stafford the best of luck in the future year—We hope we will be able to continue their good work.

Although the opening of school will soon be here—"We will have these Moments to Remember."

Delegates Are Topic Of GOP Women's Event

The Central Contra Costa Republicans Women's Club will resume its yearly activities with a meeting at the Concord Inn Tuesday, September 3, at 11 a.m.

County Central Committee Chairman Sam Conti will discuss "The National Convention Delegates, Who They Are, and Their Function in Selecting the Presidential Candidate."

The luncheon will be at noon and interested Republican women have been invited.

Plans of the State Convention of Federated Republican Women will be discussed in the morning business meeting.

THE LOCAL president, Mrs. O. W. McGuire, has urged as many women as possible to attend the convention in Coronado, October 2, 3.

Among those on the October program are Senator Barry Goldwater, Dr. Maxwell Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, and Mrs. Dottie Elston, national federation president of Republican Women's Clubs.

Reservations for the local luncheon may be placed with Mrs. McGuire, 935-3161, or Mrs. George L. Robsen, Jr., 682-1816.

DAY SCHOOL TO OPEN

St. Stephens Day School in Orinda will open Tuesday.

All Work and All Play

Say the secret words around the John Pearson's place and you might turn up a treehouse or a handsome bookshelf.

For "timber" and "work" go hand in hand with genial John Pearson who has just completed building a new family home a 9 St. James Court in Sleepy Hollow. And when HE runs out of lumber, there's lots more where it came from.

PEARSON is owner of Pearson Lumber Company in Pleasant Hill and actively participates in the civic life of that suburban city. He's director of the new Mt. Diablo First National Bank and a past president and charter member of the Pleasant Hill Lions Club.

As if those activities plus his own business aren't enough, Pearson is also past chairman of March of Dimes, Pleasant Hill, past commercial chairman, United Crusade, Central County and past chairman, YMCA Indian Guides, Orinda and Moraga.

EASY-GOING, OUT-GOING, with an incredible sense of humor (he "bombed" Diablo area recently with advertising pieces from an airplane) he is his baseball son's best boaster, his swim-team daughter's best booster and apparently the only one he lets down is the family dog "Sheila."

Sheila is a German Shorthair Pointer who would like to hunt but unfortunately, she has never been given the chance because Pearson admits the sport with the gun is not for him.

BESIDES, he hasn't got time. He's too busy enjoying his favorite hobby — WORK! Pearson is a graduate of the University of California and Graduate School of Business Administration, Harvard University and was a Captain in the U.S. Army during World War II.

His wife Betty, also a U.C. graduate, is currently busy landscaping and decorating the family's new home. She is active in Girl Scout activity and daughter Martha Pearson, 13, is a member of Girl Scout Troop 150. Martha also studies piano, swims for Orinda Park Swim Team and starts her freshman year at Miramonte.

PEARSON'S right - hand "man" is son Jim, aged 10, who attends Sleepy Hollow School, plays clarinet and lives and breathes baseball. He has been a member of a champion Peanut League baseball team for two years, playing first base, but now has put down the bat to take up the tennis racket at the new Sleepy Hollow Courts, the current family activity.

All work and all play sounds like a very workable motto in the Pearson man's menage.

Davis Attracts Many From Area

Among the 450 Bay Area students admitted to the University of California, Davis, for the fall semester, are the following from Orinda and Moraga, according to Registrar Elmer Wagner:

KOREA VET

Prior to being rechristened the S. S. Hope, the U. S. S. Consolation was the first Navy hospital ship to operate off Korea in 1950.

Hats Off To...

Butch Fitzpatrick, Park Pool Swim Coach

The blue ribbons are for the young man who has spurred his swim team on to an almost unblemished record of victories, winning all but one swim meet this year. And that one was a miss by one point only during the recent Antioch meet.

BUTCH (who is a junior after his father Burch of 39 Ardilla Road) is a graduate of Acalanes High School and was literally "born and raised at the Park Pool." He has the distinction of liking rattlesnake meat (a delicacy in case you care to price the tins at Phair's Orinda Store) and used to track them down for a special treat during his boyhood in this area.

NOW a student of law in his second year at Boalt Law School on a scholarship the 26-year-old Fitzpatrick is a resident of Oakland where he lives with his wife Jill. She is also a U.C. undergraduate (on scholarship, too) . . . and a keen spectator, whether it's swim meet or daily class instruction for the young fry.

Butch has served as lifeguard for three years at Orinda Park and prior to that, coached the kids at Meadow Pool when it first opened. After a stint in the army he took up law books and is well on his way to a legal career.

HE CREDITS his able assistants Peggy Kirby and Gordon Hightower and the consistent practice and instruction of the youngsters as reasons for so many ribbons garnered by Orinda Park. He turns out good sports as well as good swimmers stressing that the strength of the team lies in the daily instruction and swim lessons that benefit some 150-200 children each season . . . and most of all, he likes the kids. The feeling is mutual.

Big Tax Grab?

Ad Fried, public information officer of the Citizens For Reconsideration of Rapid Transit Taxes (CRRTT), told The Sun yesterday the future of the Bay Area does lie with Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

"Their promises are big, their performances are empty," he said.

In nearly six years of operation, BARTD has already wasted over $6 million paid by taxpayers, and they are now planning to spend over $50 million more for boondoggling, junkets and meaningless 'tests,'

"WE HAVE been paying for years and they still don't have the technical design of a train on paper.

"Is it because it would pinpoint their lack of understanding of what a real transit system should be," Fried continued.

According to him, the proposed testing in the Walnut Creek area will cost millions just to determine whether trains penditures will not go into the will run on tracks.

Fried said that the heavy local economy although "BARTD has filled the newspapers with that kind of propaganda, because it is earmarked for the big city engineers, contractors, lawyers and politicians."

"Even BARTD admits there hasn't been a new concept of trains in nearly three decades, so they are trying to revive this 'Toonerville Folly' to replace your automobiles which are here to stay," Fried said.

"UNFORTUNATELY the people living in the Concord and Walnut Creek are, as well as San Francisco - Oakland - Berkeley, are only getting one side of this controversial issue because many presidents and/or secretaries of the service clubs ignore our request to present our side, as well as their local newspapers conducting an editorial freeze on any statements opposing BARTD.

"Instead," added Fried, "they continue to give only the BARTD line, which is a continuation of fairy tales under the guise of 'progress' or supposed 'rapid transit' which truly isn't there.

"They fail to make the distinction that BARTD has no workable transit plan, even though they like to call themselves the Rapid Transit District.

"WE HAVE one," Fried said, "And we favor Rapid Transit, so they try to label us 'Anti-Transit.' But the truth is BARTD is a created political entity which can dig into the taxpayers pockets for huge sums and deliver anything they want, even though it be unreasonable."

He added, "That's why we aim to dissolve it and are circulating patitions to put BARTD back on the ballot for reconsideration."

Fried concluded, "BARTD'S present plans call for a costly expenditure of $20 million per mile, while we have been alerted to several other plans that would cost much less — at the most, only $2½ million per mile.

"This means BARTD will spend, at least, $17½ million per mile for 75 miles."

BULLETIN

BARTD's answer to Citizens for Reconsideration of Rapid Transit Taxes came in the form of a statement from the rapid transit district's general manager, John M. Peirce:

"The Rapid Transit Plan has received overwhelming approval of the voters of three Bay Area counties and also has cleared a major legal check within the last year in the county of Contra Costa.

"At the time of the election the issues were fully aired and I personally appeared in Contra Costa County several times on programs where those who saw fit to not support the program had an opportunity to give their views.

"With the election and the legal check now passed, the district is proceeding at full speed in the final design program, with initial construction scheduled for next year."

Advanced Scout Training Set

Among other subjects, new changes in Boy Scout advancement requirements will be explained at the "Advanced Baden-Powell Course" for troop leaders, with orientation session, September 16, 7:30 p.m., Diablo Valley College, and a full weekend, September 20-22 at Camp Herms, 1290 Boy Scout Road, El Cerrito.

Invited to participate are men who have taken part in a basic outdoor training course, where the "how" of scouting skills are taught.

"Why?" will be the theme of the advanced course, according to W. D. Thomas of Concord, who heads the staff of more than a dozen Wood Badge-trained instructors. "Wood Badge" is an eight-day training experience for scoutmasters patterned on the original course given for leaders of Boy Scouts in England more than half a century ago.

Subject matter skills, and the reasons for teaching them, include cooking, fires, compass and orientation, patrol leaders' council, knots and pioneering, nature and conservation, planning the outdoor program, troop committee meetings, first aid, signaling and "the older boy in the troop."

Action On Civil Rights Is Asked Of County Groups

is when the neighbors panic.

To the contrary, Quinn mentioned districts in the Bay Area when integration has upgraded the neighborhood or it has maintained its status quo.

HE TRACED the history of Negro-white relationships since the first slaves came here in 1619. The three reactions the Negro has taken to suppression are:

1. "Improve ourselves," as Booker T. Washington advocated.

2. To make the American system work, as Martin Luther King advocates.

3. To separate, as Marcus Garvey advocates. "The American system is a sham—Get out."

TODAY, THE great majority of Negroes are taking the second route, said Quinn. They're fighting their own battles "better and faster" than have white liberals such as Quinn described himself.

Methods mentioned included the courts, boycotts, "sit-ins" and marches.

During the period thrown open to the audience, one woman said: "Maybe you don't want your neighborhood to be changed with blacks . . . To have them associate with your children." She hastened to explain that she wasn't prejudiced. She had a colored cleaning woman of whom she was quite fond.

QUINN PREFACED his remark to the lady by apologizing for "being hard on you." He observed: "You like the Negro—as long as he is in his place."

The lady replied that there were many in Orinda who had supported the fair housing covenant and expressed wonder that they hadn't attended.

ANOTHER WOMAN in the audience responded: "I supported fair housing and would welcome a Negro neighbor if he were a decent human being."

As Quinn moved on to another question, the first lady said in a loud whisper: "I wouldn't want to move into their neighborhood and I don't see why they should want to move into ours."

A member of the Jaycees asked why only five to eight per cent of Negro students at Berkeley High School take advantage of higher education when there is equal educational opportunity.

QUINN ANSWERED with a question: "Are the schools reaching these kids?" Berkeley High, for one, isn't "geared to meet the needs of culturally deprived kids."

Boundary Plan Suggested By Nielsen Is Challenged

By TERRY HANSEN

Supervisor Mel Nielsen's current plan to reapportion the supervisorial districts is "unlawful" and if carried through by the board "we will fight it with all our power," a leading Lafayette attorney promised yesterday.

The challenge was issued by Harold Mutnick, who has on file a taxpayers' suit against the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors over the realignment dispute.

The state supreme court recently ruled that there was great disparity over the areas and population of districts covered by supervisors in Monterey County.

Redistricting was ordered there.

On Tuesday, in Martinez, Supervisor Nielsen suggested a 38 to 9 per cent population spread reapportionment plan.

Attorney Mutnick's comment to The Sun was:

"IT IS MY humble professional judgment that Mr. Nielsen's proposal goes completely contrary to the purpose and intent of the law, as spelled out by the state supreme court in the case of Monterey County.

"If any new proposal finally adopted by our supervisors fails to live up to the requirements of the law, we will ask for further writs from the court."

Some things that could happen from further legal action, according to Mutnick, would be:

The supervisors could be held in contempt.

The court could be asked to reapportion the five supervisorial districts.

Finally, the court could be requested to reapportion the districts on the basis that all supervisors would be elected on an "at-large" basis and not just from their individual districts.

District 1 (James Kenny)—Reduce by 2 per cent, to a population of 156,000. Oleum, Tormey and Kensington removed from the district.

District 2 (his own)—Bump the population from 53,000 to 78,000—or 19 per cent of the county's total. It is now 13. Also he would annex Kensington, Martinez and retain Port Costa, Crockett, Lafayette, Orinda, Moraga, Canyon, Alamo and Danville.

District 3 (Thomas J. Coll)—Give Coll only 21 per cent of the population, 87,000, as compared to the present 124,000. Coll, under Nielsen's arrangement, would retain Concord, Walnut Creek and Pleasant Hill. (Coll's comment was, "I'm glad he left my own house in my district."

District 4 (Ed Linscheid)—Increased from 35,000 to 54,000.

District 5 (Joseph Silva)—Given a 2000 increase—to a total of 34,000.

IN THE PAST, Supervisors Kenny and Coll have favored new boundary lines for the five districts—but they were always outvoted by the other three.

Nonetheless, the supervisors have taken the plan—plus the others under study.

And in the meantime, Superior Court Judge David F. Bush sits up in Stanislaus County studying the taxpayers' suit presented him by Lafayette Attorney Mutnick.

Judge Bush had been called in as an independent jurist to hear the case.

AND HE IS ALSO studying "word by word" the state supreme court's recent ruling in regard to Monterey County—which has an effect on most California counties.

His next piece of paper could be a writ of mandamus—forcing the supervisors to act—and act now.

Good News! No Water Tax Hike

For the ninth straight year, users of East Bay Water will pay only 20 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

"It is gratifying indeed to be able to hold the tax line in these days of spiraling costs," Louis J. Breuner, president, remarked after the board of directors agreed to hold the tax line.

Peace Exhibit On Hiroshima Displayed Here

The only East Bay public showing of a nationally circulated documentary exhibit on Hiroshima is being planned at Walnut Creek Co-op centers.

The display, brought here by the Consumer Survival Committee of the Walnut Creek Co-op, includes 60 large photographs of the nuclear destruction and damage to the city and life of Hiroshima, Japan, following the atom bomb attack of August 6, 1945, during World War II, according to Dr. Kathryn Smick of Lafayette, committee member in charge of the exhibit.

"Included in the exhibit are samples of building materials which were exposed to temperatures of up to 6000 degrees centigrade," Dr. Smick announced. "There are also photographs of the civic rebuilding which has taken place since the war."

Prepared by the Hiroshima Peace Memorial Museum, an official agency of the Japanese government, the ehibit was donated to the Seattle Peace Information Center for showing at the World's Fair last year.

It was viewed by more than 100,000 visitors at the Fair Coliseum and has been on tour of the United States since then.

"The Co-op Consumer Survival Committee's sponsorship of the display implements the committee's stated purpose: to provide objective information, free of politics and bias, on the monumental threats confronting man in his struggle for continued survival," Dr. Smick commented.

The group some time ago sponsored a panel discussion, "Children and the Cold War," and will present another panel at Diablo Valley College on October 5 on the nuclear test ban treaty.

Included in the committee are many Valley Area residents, with a central working committee co-chaired by Allan Rosenfield of Walnut Creek and Clair Calhoon of Pleasant Hill, with Audrey Rothkopp, also of Pleasant Hill, Ray Gilbert of Concord, Pat Dyer-Bennet of Walnut Creek, and Dr. Smick.

The exhibit will be at the Co-op Center at 1510 Geary Road, Walnut Creek, from Wednesday, September 4, through Sunday, September 8, and at the Center at 1295 South Main, Walnut Creek, from Tuesday, September 10, through Saturday, Septemper 14. The public is invited.

Dr. Smick will be interviewed about the exhibit by Jack Kerstetter on KWUN's widely followed phone-in program, Party Line, on Tuesday, September 3, at 11 a.m.

County Projects Urged In State Road Program

Contra Costa County highway projects to cost an estimated $188,735,000 are among 832 road projects recommended throughout California by the state chamber of commerce.

Cost of the projects is expected to total $8 billion.

High priority recommendations for this county included acquisition of rights-of-way and initiation of construction of Highways 4 and 24 freeway from A Street in Antioch to the Antioch Bridge.

AND, ACQUIRING rights-of-way and initiating construction of Highway 4 freeway from Barry Hill to Alhambra Avenue in Martinez.

Also included were:

Too complete plans and acquire rights-of-way for Hihgway 4 freeway from the Hercules interchange to Barry Hill.

To complete plans and acquire rights-of-woy for Highway struction from Solano Way to Willow Pass Road north of Concord.

To completely acquire rights-of-way and begin construction of Hoffman Freeway in Richmond, from the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge to the El Cerrito Overhead.

TO ACQUIRE rights - of - way and begin construction of a freeway for Highway 21 from one mile south of Danville to one mile north of the Alameda-Contra Costa County line.

To complete acquisition and begin construction of interchanges on Route 75-F at Bailey Road and Somersville Road.

To acquire rights-of-way and begin construction of Route 106-C freeway from Alhambra Avenue in Martinez to Route 75-E.

Fatal Step . . . Broadside Crash Takes Two Lives

A fatal step and a broadside crash cost the life of a Walnut Creek woman and a Sacramento man in central county this week.

The fatal step from behind a stalled car and into the path of an oncoming truck took the life of J. C. Keck of Sacramento Monday.

The Highway Patrol said the victim had run out of gas while driving to an Oakland car dealer and was struck down when he started to walk down the highway for aid from a companion driving a second car parked in back of him.

THE VICTIM HAD run out of gas on Tunnel Road about 10 a.m.

The Highway Patrol stated that the victim was struck by a truck driven by Larry Marlow, 22, of 1375 Harbor Street, Pittsburg.

Marlow told the patrol he had swerved to miss the parked car when the man stepped out from behind it.

Marlow was not cited.

Mrs. Alice Seligman, 80, of 1924 Almond Avenue, Walnut Creek, was killed when her husband's auto was struck broadside by a panel truck at First Avenue and U. S. Highway 50 near Livermore.

Her husband, Harvey, 78, was reported in fair condition at Livermore's Valley Memorial Hospital with major injuries.

Leonard Lelevich, 38, of Sacramento, driver of the panel truck, suffered minor injuries in the crash, as did his son, Leonard Jr., 6.

Two cars collided in a head-on sideswipe at Shell Avenue and Pacheco Boulevard Tuesday, but neither driver was injured, according to California Highway Patrol.

Margaret V. Jarvis, 20, of 120 Arlene Lane, Walnut Creek, was reportedly southbound on Pacheco, and Ralph E. Sweet, 20, of 2315 Wayne Street, Martinez, was northbound at 11:30 p.m., according to reports.

THE ACCIDENT is still under investigation.

Two men sustained injuries at Briones Dam when an earth mover overturned. One of the injured men was taken to the Martinez community hospital and treated for a broken ankle while the other was taken to Kaiser Foundation Hospital where he was treated for cracked ribs.

The accident occurred at 12:38 p.m. Wednesday. One of the men had reportedly been breaking in a new man on the job.

BARTD Names Chief Engineer To Key Post

Samuel H. Clark, chief engineer for the American Institute of Steel Construction, has been named to a key post in the engineering design team dow developing detailed plans and specifications for the Bay Area rapid transit system.

A RECOGNIZED expert in the field of structural steel design, Clark will serve as project coordinator for Parsons Brinckerhoff-Tudor-Bechtel, general engineering consultants to the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

He will have responsibility for directing and coordinating the work of the various engineering consultants and subcontractors employed by the joint venture, including architects, soils engineers, surveyors and research engineers.

Clark, 42, joined the AISC as district engineer in 1955, following nine years of service as design and construction engineer for the Standard Oil Company in San Francisco.

He was appointed assistant chief engineer for the institute in 1955, and was promoted to chief engineer in 1962.

In that position he supervised the institute's regional engineering offices throughout the United States, with headquarters in New York.

WILLIAM A. BUGGE, project director for the BARTD consultants, said Clark is "ideally suited" for the special coordinating post because of his close acquaintance with the many consulting engineers in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Clark is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers and the Structural Engineering Association of Northern California.

He is an engineering graduate of the University of Washington.

Letters to The Editor

THE 'RIGHTS' MARCH

EDITOR:

The executive committee of the Council of Churches of Central Contra Costa County recently endorsed the civil rights march on Washington.

The churches have a stake in this march.

Up to now there always has seemed to be time for gradual change, and modest tokens of progress in racial justice were accepted as the best we could do.

But now, in the providence of God, the issue is being sharply focused in every corner of the nation. Negro citizens, in action groups, and spontaneously, aided by some white fellow citizens, are moving quickly and with great commitment, to action that often means suffering, harassment and sometimes death.

The basic issue has not changed, but it is becoming more obvious to the nation as a whole. It is one issue which the conscience of America must face as a moral challenge.

In light of our convictions as Christians, and realizing that there are many avenues in the central county area that are not open to minority groups, particularly in the field of housing, the Central Contra Costa County Council of Churches heartily endorses and identifies itself with the march on Washington.

DR. PHILIP J. DAINTON,
Executive Director, Concord

Off To School They Must Go...

YVONNE MAUZEY
376-4083

OPENING BLACKBOARD session for Moraga students will be Tuesday, Sept. 3rd. Classes start at the Rheem school at 8:10, except for the second session of kindergarten which is at 11:25

Classes at Camino Pablo and the Old Moraga School will start at 9 a.m. except for the second session of kindergarten which will start at 12:10; and the 7th and 8th grades which will start at 8:50 a.m.

There will be four second grade classes at the Old Moraga School and one third grade from the Camino Pablo School.

Camino Pablo students will have one bus stop at the corner of Sanders and Wandel, for students fourth grade and under. All others will walk.

VISITING DIGNITARIES: Jo Tolhurst's mother and father from Winnetha, in the Chicago area, have been visiting the Tolhursts . . . Mother and dad of Lee Parris have been visiting picturesque Moraga for nine days from across country in No. Carolina. . . .

Alice Miller's mother and father have been up from Los Angeles visiting and checking on our area.

Dick Miles' grandma, age 88, from Davenport, Iowa has been visiting Dick, Doris and family. Barbara Bailey just back from visiting grandma in San Mateo.

Speaking of visiting, Mary Jane Watt out did them all. She has just returned from Canada, with the Young Life Group. Mary Jane went with the Berkeley, El Cerrito group. The Young Life Group meets Monday nights at Mike Lynns.

The group left here via Greyhound chartered bus, up route 99, drove all night and half of the next day and spent the next night in Arcadia . . . then took an eight hour boat ride through the Straight of Georgia and Straight of Louisa, to the section where they would spend their vacation, with one councillor and eight students to a cabin. They tried water skiing, boating and many of the out-of-doors sports. Returning home healthy and tanned.

* * *

THE HYDES (Pat and Hally) took their vacation to Pat's hometown Syracuse, N.Y. making like the birds with their four children two to six and a half. They left the cool Moraga climate, via this, the first jet ride for Pat and the kids, to arrive the same day in the typically eastern heat and humidity. Then off to the lake Sunday afternoon for a camping out session, in a cabin, with Chick Sale in rear, and the gathering of the clan, at Cross Lake.

#1 Daughter really roughed it, camping out in a tent in the thunder, and lightning with her ten-year-old twin cousins, with wall to wall beds, and elephant size mosquitos.

Pat returned with a nice crop of blisters on her hands from an outing with her 11-year-old nephew, boat and motor. They had putted over to the other side where the swimming and grasses were greener. They scouted the island. Wandering around, but never managed to find any gold, diamonds or buried treasure. They did find some cat tails which Pat's children had never seen before and picked up some drift wood.

When coming back they had trouble starting the motor. So Pat started to row, as the boy kept trying the motor. She ended up rowing the whole way back, from one to three miles, depending upon which old time you talk to.

CONGRATULATIONS to the Jollymours, Arthur and Donna of Camelfort Ct. in Rutherford Park, on their baby girl, Sally Anne, weighing in at 7#, 11-oz. August 19th, at the Kaiser Hospital in W. C. The Jollymours have two other children Peter 5½ and Sue 3½.

Congrats also to Earl and Mary Cruz, who finally got a boy (only he is a grandson). Scott Patrick Mitchel was born July 28th at Providence Hosp. Weighing in at 6#, 5-oz. The Mitchells reside in Lafayette. . . . Mary is having a time learning to care for a boy, after so many girls.

Looks like our town is in sight! Russ Bruzzone, a Lafayette contractor and original contractor of Camino Woods, has just purchased 11 acres of property from Utah's Moraga Ranch with option to buy 14 additional acres. Bruzzone intends to build a shopping center much like the one being built in Lafayette on Mt. Diablo Blvd. He estimates the first building will be completed in April of next year, in the section where Moraga Wy and St. Marys Rd. joins. The roads are now being rerouted, as you can all see by the turmoil in this section.

SPEAKING OF BUILDING, Rheem has really been pouring on the steam in the Rheem Center of late. We must applaud him for the landscaping job being done in this area. It is beautiful and a great asset to the area.

Welcome to our new neighbors on Larch Ave. the Kelleys and their three children, Nancy, Debora, and Jimmie. Mr. Kelley is a civil servant.

Kitty and Hank Hall and boys were at Berryessa Lake last weekend, learning how to ski. Everyone managed to learn but Kitty, who just couldn't get her caboose out of the water.

JOAN POOR informs me the Newcomers Club will be having their second birthday party Tuesday, September 3rd. They will serve a birthday cake and coffee. On the agenda is a silent auction of white elephants, which the group has donated. The group who is bidding writes their bids on a piece of paper and the top bid gets the prize.

The birthday party and auction will be held at the Donald Rheem school in the K room. The party will be for members or prespective members only.

Close Bridge Scores Tallied

NORTH-SOUTH

1. Constance Kline and Ted Davis, 90; 2. Barbara Allem and Barbara Red, 84; 3. Mr. and Mrs. Don Schulte, 80.

EAST-WEST

1. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Merrill, 88; 2. George Benesch and Ray Flanagan, 86; 3. Ruth Fields and Sidney Cox, 84.

POPULAR PLACE

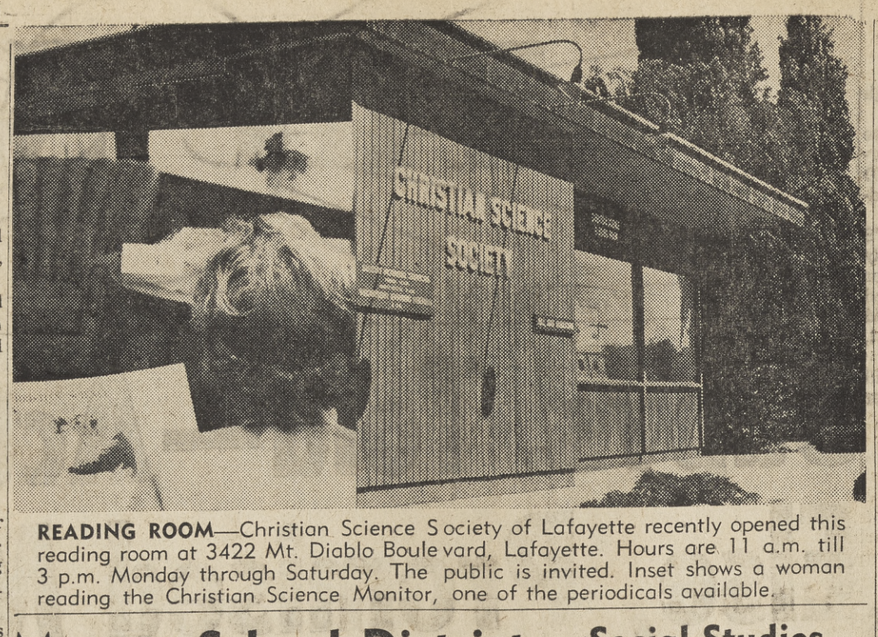
Alameda means "grove of poplar trees," the California State Automobile Association reports. Alameda County, which adopted the name in 1853, extends from Oakland's industrial area on its western side to the Livermore wine producing region in the east.

Del Valle Pool Closes Briefly

Del Valle high school's swimming pool will be closed to the public this Friday afternoon from 3 to 4 p.m.

Freshmen attending their orientation at the high school will be using the pool for that hour.

Regular pool hours for public use are from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. through Labor Day, September 2.



READING ROOM—Christian Science Society of Lafayette recently opened this reading room at 3422 Mt. Diablo Boulevard, Lafayette. Hours are 11 a.m. till 3 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The public is invited. Inset shows a woman reading the Christian Science Monitor, one of the periodicals available.

Social Studies Teachers Hear Bank Economist

School began early this year for social studies teachers of the Acalanes High School District.

"School," in this case, is a pre-term meeting yesterday of the district social studies teachers, where they heard Bank of America consulting economist, Ernest C. Olson, discussed the effect of the European Common Market on the United States economy.

Olson, who was an economist with the Federal Reserve Board in Washington, D.C., before he joined the bank, briefly traced the history of the ECM and examined recent developments and their effect upon the American business scene.

According to George B. Hunrick, chairman of the social studies department at Campolindo High School, approximately 70 social studies teachers from all over the Acalanes district attended the meeting at Campolindo High School, in Moraga.

Fire District Tax Is Highest

Highest tax rate in the county's 19 fire districts was the Orinda Fire District with $1.06. The county board of supervisors approved the final 1963-64 budgets for special districts Tuesday.

Among the final budgets adopted was $1,148,854 for the Central Fire District. Budgets for the 19 fire districts totaled $3,656,979.

Highest tax rate was in Orinda. Lowest was two cents in Brentwood.

Four Students Are Reinstated

One year after a football brawl following a Miramonte High School - Pittsburg football game, four students from the latter school were reinstated. This brings the total to seven students involved in the fracas who were allowed to return.

Two are still expelled.

Warn Oil Seal Fraud

Residents of the central county area, particularly in Lafayette and Orinda, were warned by Sheriff Walter F. Yonng yesterday of a possible fraudulent operation. It involves the installation of oil seal coat to driveways and parking areas.

"An experienced building contractor, Peter T. Muller of Orinda, has evaluated the work performed by these persons. In his opinion the results are of no particular benefit and in some instances may cause harm to existing road surfaces," said Sheriff Young.

MULLER STATED that a proper "seal-coat" application is a two-step operation with a two- to three-week interval between applications.

Fees charged by these persons are usually based on their appraisal of the customer's ability to pay rather than on the work performed.

MULLER'S LETTER is reprinted at right.

Residents coming in contact with persons attempting to perform this service are requested to obtain as much information as possible and notify the sheriff's department.

Letter Details Landslide Woes For Supervisors

Fearing landslide hazard and charging action is "long past due," a Lafayette woman, speaking for herself and her neighbors has said "urgent action is imperative" along Dewing Avenue, Brook Street and Boyer Circle.

In a letter to the board of supervisors, Mrs. Fern Powell Davis, 3562 Boyer Circle, remind the board that a slide occurred nine months ago at Dewing and Brook and nothing has yet been done

She wrote, "We, whose cars teeter along the narrow edge of the slide several times a day, want to know: What do the local property owners intend to do?

"I commute to work past the slide when traffic is heavy along the slide area. School children are walking to school, elderly people from the convalescent home across the street are walking near the area, and cars are trying to pass in the one-way street along the edge of the slide.

'It is short of a miracle that there has not been a fatal accident at this precarious intersection."

"Of serious concern to us residents on Boyer Circle is the fact that the sole access to the circle is past the slide area. With this winter's rains due soon, it is probable 40 or more families will be marooned."

Lafayette Fire Position Open

Applications are being taken for September 14-15 examinations for the job of hoseman with the Lafayette Fire Station, 984 Moraga Road.

Applications close September 11, and the vacancy will be filled by October 1.

Applicants must be 21-30, between 5'9" and 6'3" with at least a high school diploma. In addition, applicants must be able to meet physical requirements based on medical examination and agility tests.

County Proceeds On Work

The County Public Works Department was instructed this week by Supervisor Mel Nielsen to go ahead on plans for an $80,000 type of improvement on Camino Pablo Road. The road is in the Orchard Dell sector of Moraga.

It is the only road leading to Camino Pablo School. School and community leaders, long decrying the road as "hazardous," met with county officials last week.

ABOUT 20 representatives of Moraga groups met at Camino Pablo School Wednesday night with Supervisor Nielsen and Paul Kilkenny, assistant director, public works.

Among those present were Richard Kostryka, president of the Moraga Valley Community Club; Ted Gilles, MVCC traffic and safety chairman; Robert Amber and Dr. Lee Nelson, co-chairmen, MVCC civic affairs committee, and Al Haskell, president of the school board and representative of Orchard Dell Homeowners Association.

Superintendent William Knight, who has asked for action on the road, was on vacation. He had many times expressed concern for school buses and other vehicles and pedestrians using the old road.

CONSTRUCTION of the road was not on the budget as approved by the county board of supervisors last week. It will come from "savings on other projects," according to a county official.

How long, how wide, what improvement, will result from the appropriation, said Kilkenny.

"The road in its former condition has outlived its usefulness. New developments are increasing traffic service demand," said Kilkenny.

Campolindo High's Bus Schedule Ready To Go

SEALCOAT LEGAL?

(Editor's note: The original of the following letter was addressed to the Better Business Bureau with copies going to the Contra Costa Sheriff's Department and The Sun.)

Gentlemen:

Reference is made to two groups of men that have been circulating through the Orinda area the past few weekends offering the public "application of an oil "sealcoat" of asphalt to their driveways to protect the pavement from waterd damage, etc."

As I am in the construction business I am also familiar with the term "sealcoat" which is done by our sub contractors in conjunction with asphalt paving sub contracts. "Sealcoat," by definition, is a two (2) coat spray of hot asphalt over an existing paved surface—then followed by a layer of speical sand that is allowed to penetrate into the oil for a two-three week period—then is swept off the paved surface. This process is used extensively in the contsruction industry as a stop-gap method of protection to existing asphaltic concrete—befor a later replacement is required.

It is my opinion that these men are operating in the Orinda area and giving "estimates" without being actually licensed or specialists in this type of skilled application.

In my own case, when the men approached me both the the weekend of August 10th and again today, August 17th, I asked for the quotation they said they would give me. In less than one minute the "estimator" gave me a "guesstimate" of $55 to apply the oil coating to my prox. 260 sq. ft. driveway approach.

This procedure was repeated throughout the neighborhood (Bel Air Drive, Parkland). No measurement was taken or calculations were made to arrive at this price and also the terms were "Cash upon completion"—no receipts outside of your personal check were offered.

I asked the men for their business card and their phone number — but this was not available. They did mention their names both Saturdays, but the names were different?

Again, it is my strong opinion that the public could be bilked into spending money for an unnecessary and useless service—with no value or benefit to their respective property.

milk has staying power

the natural beverage that makes meal-time energy last longer

Only milk gives so much pleasure while it extends the energy you get from meals! Milk keeps you going . . . gives you staying power from meal to meal. And — milk makes all your favorite foods taste even better!

Note to weight watchers: Milk with meals helps to keep you satisfied with far less food . . . has staying power that makes it easy to resist between meal temptations. So if you're counting calories, count milk in!

EAST BAY PRODUCERS' MILK COUNCIL

Fire Consolidation Idea Frowned Upon

A proposal for fire district consodilation by the Contra Costa County Taxpayers Association has been greeted with a shrug by several area fire district commissioners.

Consensus of thee commissioners was that consolidation would take individuality out of the current fire protection service. They also all but defied the association to show that consolidation would result in greater efficiency at a like, or lower, cost.

The proposal for a far-reaching fire district consolidation was suggested last week by a taxpayers group before the Board of Supervisors.

Paul Hughey, association executive secretary, wrote the board that consolidation would save money and would result in greater efficiency.

ALSO SUGGESTED WAS appointment of a county fire marshal and a county fire advisory board to oversee the consolidated district.

Although inclined to doubt the benefits as proposed by the association, Central Fire District Commissioner Leo F. Smarsh urged an open-minded attitude toward the proposal.

"Primarily," Smarsh said, "we have been interested in the best fire protection at the least cost. "We're currently involved in an ambitious program at no tax increase. Our building program is providing the best stations and the best service for the tax dollar."

"I would, however," Smarsh continued, "like to study the consolidation idea further to weigh their ideas."

NONE OF THE commissioners early this week had yet seen a complete copy of the proposal, but knew "only what's been in the papers."

"Our 10-year plan," Smarsh added, "would have required 12 stations. It was later determined by the fire underwriters that we could use seven stations instead of 12.

"This amounts to quite a savings when you consider it would cost $100,000 for the land and building and another $100,000 a year to man the station." Smarsh is commission chairman.

Mt. Diablo Fire District Commissioner Ralph Bollman labeled the idea un-democratic. "Consolidation from the top," Bollman said, "goes against my grain. We need more, not less, grass roots government.

"THE TROUBLE WITH it is that people can't reach those at the top with their complaints. That's the wrong road to democracy. When they can come up with better service for the same money, it will be OK. Offhand, however, I think it's ill-advised."

The current consolidation proposal is not new, according to Orinda Fire District Commissioner Charles Landridge. He also deplored the loss of individual service consulidation would bring.

"This is an old bugaboo," Langdrige said. "It's been brought up several times over the past few years, only to die down and later pop up again. This is the third or fourth time its come in 10 or 11 years. Naturally, it's the taxpayers' prerogative and there is a chance for savings.

"I DON'T BELIEVE, though," he said, "that people in Orinda will be strong for consolidation. We do a lot of other things than just put out fire. Like rescuing cats from trees and getting rid of snakes and a lot of other extra duties.

"You won't get much service in a consolidated district. For example, we have a rescue truck that does a real life-saving service. I don't know what would happen to that."

Landridge did not think Moraga would look favorably on the proposed consolidation with the Orinda district. "They're pretty proud of their department and would like to retain their individuality."

The question of personnel also entered into Langridge's views. "Some of our best men (most competent firemen) could be bumped by older men (in seniority) from another district."

THE ASSOSIATION HAD proposed the consolidation into one large district of Mt. Diablo, which serves Concord, Clayton Valley, West Pittsburg and parts of Pleasant Hill with Central Fire District which covers all of Walnut Creek and the remainder of Pleasant Hill.

It would also merge Orinda and Moraga, and Carquinez with Crockett.

Supervisors were expected to set a date to review the proposal.

Weekend Plays Open To Public

The public has been invited to two one-act plays this weekend at Concord Little Theater and staged by "Cameleopard Workshop," a group of 30 Mt. Diablo College drama students.

Performances will be at 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday. Plays to be presented are "Krapp's Last Tape" by Samuel Beckett and "The Stronger" by August Strindberg.

Last Of County's Nine Escapees Caught In Colo.

John Daniel Cruise, 26, last of nine prisoners who escaped from Contra Costa County jail July 21, was arrested Sunday by the Colorado state highway patrol.

Cruise, formerly of Concord, was stopped for speeding in the early morning hours on a lonely stretch of highway in Gilpin County.

Highway patrolman Clem Wiechman said Cruise was unable to produce a driver's license or proof of ownership of the vehicle he was driving.

WIECHMAN said Cruise readily admitted under questioning that he was wanted for burglary, parole violation and escape in California.

Cruise, who was serving a sentence for burglary at the time of the mass escape, appeared in Blackhawk court (Gilpin county seat) Tuesday on charges of speeding, driving without an operator's permit and auto theft, according to Colorado highway patrol officers.

Contra Costa County sheriff's department officials have placed a hold on Cruise and say they will begin extradition proceedings to return him to the West Coast as soon as Gilpin County authorities complete disposition of their case.

CRUISE faces a felony escape charge, as well as a federal violation of fleeing across a state line to avoid arrest, when he is brought back to Contra Costa County.

Joseph P. Sutton, 20, of El Cerrito and Raymond Gray, 32, of Oakland were taken into custoday in the Bay Area earlier this month to round out capture of all nine escapees.

'I Turned $1000 To A Million In Spare Time'

A local author told local residents Wednesday night "How I turned $1000 To A Million In Real Estate — In My Spare Time" and "How To Make A Fortune Today."

The first is the title of the current best seller by William Nickerson of Alamo. The second is the title of its sequel, to come out in a few months. It answers the tens of thousands of questions asked him on his lecture tours throughout the country.

THE KEY: O.P.M. (Other People's Money)!

The Apartment House Association of Contra Costa County completely filled the auditorium of the Board of Realtors to hear the noted author.

Nickerson is a nationally known example of the financial growth possible through considered investment in rental property.

HE USED his own experiences of successful financing, mangement, and growth to show the audience how they could plan the development of their present holdings under our economic system during the dynamic growth pattern now evident in this country.

JACK DIGGS, president of the Apartment House Association, presided over a brief business meeting which featured Harold Storm, legal advisor for the association.

He outlined the growth pattern of the growth which has a current mailing list of over 3000. He indicated that owners of rental property within the county are being contacted as rapidly as possible. Additional information is available at 283-6522 or 376-5875 for those who have not been contacted as yet.

Next meeting of the association will be a dinner-meeting with E. F. Wanaka, county assessor as speaker. It will be at The Lafayette, September 25 at 7 p.m. For reservations, 837-7778.

ATHLETES GET UP AND GO

Recent physical efficiency studies conducted by Dr. H. F. Fait at the University of Connecticut show there is no reason to exclude milk from pre-game meals of athletes. Speaking on the tests, Dr. Fait said "milk is recommended to athletes as furnishing more 'get up and go' power. The tests revealed that milk does not cause stomach upset, sluggishness, loss of agility, lack of endurance, or decrease speed of movement."

Money And Guns Taken By Thieves

A housewife who lost a $1200 ring and an Army man on leave who had several guns stolen during a house party figured in reports compiled this week by sheriff's deputies.

But the worse thieves were probably those who slipped into Danville's St. Isadore Catholic Church and stole $25 from offering boxes after ripping them from walls.

POLICE REPORTED that three shotguns, a pump rifle and fishing reel were taken from the home of Ralph Phillips, 18, 2 Middle Road, Lafayette.

The Army man, on leave, was entertaining many guests, police said, when one of them apparently went into a room where the guns were kept, opened the window, and threw the weapons outside.

Then he disappeared from the party to take his loot off into the darkness.

THERE WERE also three other "party" victims of thieves.

LeRoy Pennington, 927 Reliez Station Road, Lafayette, was entertaining guests when a thief tore off a screen, crawled through a bedroom window and ransacked two purses. He obtained $100 from them.

The victims were Barbara Nissen of Belmont and Rita Aylstock of Anaheim, visitors at Pennington's home.

VANDALS WERE as bad as thieves during the week, deputies said.

At Fair Oaks School, 185 Fair Oaks Drive, Pleasant Hill, they smashed into a locker and tossed rain garments used by junior traffic patrol boys about the floor.

From there they cut an antenna leading to the roof, tore off boards from a fence, pried off a boiler room door and stole three soda-type fire extinguishers.

Public Warned Against Labor Day Accidents

California Highway Patrol officers of the Concord area will be on the road this Labor Day with one goal—to reduce accidents, Capt. Edward M. Jelich, area commander, told The Sun.

"To do it, they will enforce against those violations which cause accidents.

"WE DON'T have to cite statistics or look at records to know what those violations are. They are very similar, year after year.

"'Last Labor Day, fatal accidents investigated by the patrol were caused by these violations—exceeding a safe speed or the posted limit, driving on the wrong side of the road, drunk driving, unsafe lane changing, and failure ot observe stop signs.

"Those and other hazardous violations are the ones we will be attempting to prevent. But the motorist has a responsibility, too. He can reduce accidents by observing the law.

"COURTESY, patience, compliance with law—these are the driving attributes which will maye your Labor Day motoring safer and more pleasant, too," the captain said.

Pittsburg Man Held In Alamo Woman Attack

Out on $262 bail is Artemus R. Schmidt, 22 of Pittsburg. He allegedly choked and threatened Mrs. Maileen Phillips, 22, of Long Beach, a visitor to Alamo.

Mrs. Phillips was driving out of an Alamo service station when Schmidt, who had left his car nearby, told her his car was out of gas and he needed a ride to Walnut Creek.

Mrs. Phillips obliged, saying she would take him to a point where she turned off Highway 21. Once in the car, however, Schmidt allegedly went through her purse and began choking her and telling her to "keep going or I'll kill you."

Mrs. Phillips tried to attract attention by swerving into the oncoming traffic lane. Then, she stopped the car, took the keys and ran down the highway.

Schmidt also left the car, but was stopped in an orchard by two truck drivers, Ron Piva, San Leandro, and Grayson Myers, 112 Plaza Circle, Danville. The pair held Schmidt until sheriff's deputies arrived.

East Bay Water Votes To Hold Tax Rate

The Board of Directors of East Bay Water voted Friday to hold the line on the tax rate at 20 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

This is the ninth straight year that the directors have held the tax rate at the 20-cent level. In 1955 the rate was reduced from 25 cents.

"IT IS GRATIFYING indeed to be able to hold the tax line in these days of spiraling costs," said Louis J. Breuner, president of East Bay Water's Board of Directors.

"In 1958 when the voters approved the $252-million bond issue to finance the water development program, we pledged that we would not increase taxes or water rates. We have kept that pledge," President Breuner said.

Since 1930 East Bay Water's tax rate has dropped 60 per cent and the water use rates have been cut more than 21 per cent.

This is why East Bay Water customers enjoy the lowest water rates in the San Francisco Bay Area, President Breuner said.

THE DIRECTORS also voted to maintain the seven-cent tax rate on Special District No. 1 which intercepts, treats and disposes of waste water for the Berkeley, Emeryville, Oakland Berkeley, Emerville, Oakland and Piedmont.

Since that time the rate has been consistently lowered to the present seven-cent rate.

Tri-City Board Elects Owens, Names Officers

The Tri-City Council of Contra Costa County, a group of Concord, Walnut Creek and Pleasant Hill leaders, has selected Owen Owens of Orinda as its chairman.

DR. DONALD Atcheson, president of the Concord Chamber of Commerce, was put in charge of developing a brochure boosting the central county and greeting out-of-area visitors.

The board of directors will have nine members and a non-voting secretary.

Vice chairmen will be chamber presidents — Ed Neighbor, Walnut Creek; Dr. Atcheson of Concord and Reuben Friedrich, Pleasant Hill.

OTHER DIRECTORS are the three mayors, George Krueger, Concord; Lenard Grote, Pleasant Hill, and Newell Case, Walnut Creek, as well as Thomas Coll, third district supervisor, and Jack Fries, new president of the Contra Costa County Development Association.

Mrs. Ruth Dawkins, Pleasant Hill, will be board secretary.

County Sign Bill Action Is Deferred

Action on a county ordinance to limit signs and billboards within the county has been deferred by the County Planning Commission until October 1.

The proposed bill would prohibit signs not related to a business on the property in areas zoned for neighborhood business.

Signs would be permitted in retail business and general commercial districts after a use permit had been authorized.

Meanwhile, copies of the proposed ordinance are being distributed to such groups as chambers of commerce, improvement associations and trade organizations.

Sign companies are also interested in the ordinance, said Principal Planner H. R. Griffith. Griffith said no opposition has been heard yet, but assumed it was because those concerned were not yet familiar with the provisions.

"I'm sure there will be opposition," Griffith said, and study of the measure "will probably go on for some time."

Second Pen-Pal Appeal Arrives

How come?

Close on the heels of the first letter came a second, this from Samuel A. Yeye, 19, of 37 Tapa Street, Lagos, Nigeria.

Young Sam also promises to tell his pen-pals "all sorts of things about Africa, particularly Nigeria."

Music Teachers Set Fall Agenda

The first fall meeting of the Music Teachers' Association of Contra Costa County will be held Tuesday evening, September 10, in the home of Virginia Blair of Walnut Creek.

The Diablo Light Opera Company will preview its current production, "Ruddigore," by Gilbert and Sullivan, including "Mikado," "Pirates of Penzance," "Pinafore" and "Trial by Jury."

MTA plans include monthly programs at Walnut Creek Library, featuring lectures and recitals by prominent area musicians.

Claire James of San Francisco will give a lecture on 'The Making of Music," there will be a recital by Tanya Ury, well known concert pianist, and a recital by Alexander Liberman.

Dr. Glenn Glasgow, instructor at Alameda State College, will lecture on "Intellect and Inspiration in Music."

Extra workshops and panel discussions are planned for October, January and March meetings. These short workshops give teaching ideas and insipration to members.

In October, Dorothy Knowlton will lead a discussion on Group Teaching. In January, Shirley Adama will speak on 'Development of Teaching" and in March John A. Ray of San Francisco will explain his method of teaching theory and harmony in private lessons.

MTA officers are: Barbara Buck, president; Edith Marshall, treasurer; Geraldine Leach, recording secretary, and Joan Van Ness, corresponding secretary.

Those interested in attending meetings or joining the group have been asked to call Barbara Buck, 935-7113.

$4 Million Sale Of Mortgages Made By Bank

Central Valley National Bank, with headquarters in Oakland has consummated the sale, of $4 million of FHA and VA mortgages from the Silvergate Homes Subdivison located in San Ramon Valley near Dublin.

The bank is actively engaged in interim financing and is now servicing over $50 million of mortgages.

Area Students Earn Degrees

A Lafayette woman and a Walnut Creek man were among 301 students to earn degrees at the close of the 1963 summer session at San Jose College, according to President John T. Wahlquist.

Graduation exercises, however, in accordance with college policy, are held in June.

Jeannie C. Fredman, Lafayette, earned a bachelor of arts degree in interior decorating. The degree of master of science in business administration went to John D. Sherbourne, Walnut Creek.

Fire Chairman, Supervisors Clash On Duties

The board of supervisors has overruled a complaint by Mt. Diablo Fire District Commissioner Ralph Bollman that the district is being "hamstrung" by the county administrator's office and needs greater individual responsibility.

The board, however, held the line in unanimously agreeing to stick with present policy.

BUT, IN AN EFFORT to resolve the problem, Supervisors Thomas Coll and E. A. Linscheid will meet with the commission September 10 "to see what can be worked out."

The fire district last month said "duties are being taken from us and given to the county." The board was also accused of slowing the progress of the district, the county's largest.

Bollman specifically complained about a $2600 county building inspection fee on the new Oak Grove Road fire station. County interference in selection of the Kirker Pass Road station site was also charged.

SUPERVISORS told Bollman that title to the stations was with the county and the county would continue to serve its interests in proper building inspections.

Wells Fargo Buys San Ramon Bonds

Wells Fargo Bank last week purchased a $177,000 bond issue of San Ramon School District.

The Wells Fargo bid of par value plus a $20 premium on the San Ramon bonds involves an annual net interest cost of 3.3293 per cent.

Divorcee Swindle Case Set

Trial of an unemployed mechanic accused of swindling an Orinda divorcee out of $10,000 was continued until September 20 at 11 a.m.

The case of Donald Dean Johnson, 34, of Pleasant Hill came up last Friday before Judge Betsy FitzGerald Rahn in Walnut Creek municipal court.

According to sheriff's reports, Johnson convinced the divorcee that the money would set him up in the service station business in Walnut Creek.

HE LOST the money at the gaming tables at Stateline, the sheriff's investigation revealed.

The divorcee became suspicious when Johnson asked for an additional $1000 for more equipment." she wrote out another check and then phoned the oil company which said it hadn't heard of him.

JOHNSON'S ADDRESS is 517 Shelley Drive, Pleasant Hill. He is married and has one child.

He is suspected of taking the divorcee's checks for over two months before being booked on the felony charge.

He was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's office where he is being held until trial.

That Unification Plan F Is In The News Again

To comply with the state educational code, a letter proposing unification of the "west" portion of the Acalanes Union High School District was filed Tuesday. It was sent by Floyd Marchus, county superintendent of schools, and received by the county board of supervisors. There was no order for action.

"The west" school districts are Orinda Union, Moraga and Canyon. It would provide horizontal unification from kindergarten through the 12th grade.

The "east" half of the plan wasn't submitted since it hadn't gone through all of the steps of the "legal riggermarole," according to a spokesman for Marchus.

Mobile Home Site Revealed

A $2½ million, 1000 luxury mobile home park will be constructed near Buchanan Field, according to Eugene T. Marsh, formerly owner of Contra Costa Speedway.

On about 100 acres between the county airport and the race track, Buchanan Mobile Estates is in the area cleared for project of Freeway 21.

It was a honeymoon trip to remember!

A few days after Miramonte High School Spanish teacher Jack Schmitt claimed his bride, they left for Guadalarja. Perhaps some society item read: "The justweds left for an extended stay in romantic old Mexico."

IT WOULD NOT add that the Schmitts chaperoned 15 Miramonte Spanish students. The teen-agers took a five-week course in Spanish at the University of Guadalarja which will advance them one year in their high school language.

The "honeymoon" began with a 40-hour, non-stop (except for meals) bus ride. From there, accounts of the trip would seem to make Allen Sherman's recording of "Hello Mudder, Hello Faddah" seem pale.

A fictitious letter from one of the teen-agers might have carried home to anxious parents one of these tantalizing tidbits:

"You remember Barry Dauphinee. He'll be back in class in two weeks—as soon as intravenous feedings aren't needed . . ."

"THE BUS BROKE down in Tiajuana. So we missed our plane reservations in San Diego . . . Except for the Dauphinee brothers and some others, who hired a taxi . . . It isn't funny, Dad—please wire more money!"

"We stayed with Mexican families, as on the agenda—except for one guy, whom the Schmitts had to take into their honeymoon hacienda."

The 15 Miramonte Spanish students had to have a B average in order to be eligible for the trip. For a few months prior to leaving, they studied after school one hour a week, taking in the language, history and culture of Mexico.

THEY DEPARTED June 27 via chartered bus. For five weeks, they attended the summer session which is sponsored by the University of San Francisco.

There were about 10 students in each class. The professor spoke almost entirely in Spanish. Each student had two classes: oral (in which conversations were stressed and written.

Two of the students, Pat Coffey and Mike Dauphinee, took accelerated courses for college credit. Other students took Spanish II which means that they will be allowed to take Spanish III this semester at school.

LODGING IN homes with Mexican families was a further aid in learning to converse in Spanish. Two boys or two girls "bunked" with the host families.

After completion of the course, the students took a nine-day tour through Mexico. Points of interest included Mexico City, the pyramids and Taxco, silver capitol.

IT WAS DURING the side tour that most of the accompanying photographs were taken by Steve Yost, one of the students. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin R. Yost, 218 Hall Drive, Orinda. His older brother Bob has been a photographer for the past few years for The Sun.

Other students and their parents are:

AL HARMON, Mr. and Mrs. Albion K. P. Harmon, Oak Lane; Pat Coffey, Dr. and Mrs. Gerald J. Coffey, Hillcrest Drive; Sue Owens, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Owens, Carisbrook Drive; Susan LaPlant, Mr. and Mrs. Leo LaPlant, Risa Drive.

Steve Dudley, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dudley, Claremont Avenue; Kit Schwalm, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Schwalm, Meadow View Road; Jerie Rugaber, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Rugaber, Honey Hill Road.

Tim Lowther, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh C. Lowther, Lombardy Lane; Bob McMaster, Mr. and Mrs. John H. McMaster, Larch Avenue, Moraga, and Ken Rands, Mr. and Mrs. J. Rands, Daryl Drive.

The bride wore a patient smile!

School Dropouts Are Low In Suburbia

These facts were presented to The Sun newspapers following a recent survey which indicated that the nation suffers over 33 per cent dropout on the high school level.

THE STATE of California on the other hand comes up with a figure of 25 per cent dropouts.

The Acalanes High School District reports a mere 5 per cent dropout figure and according to Leland Russell, assistant superintenden of the Acalanes District, the 5 per cent figure represents those students in the grades nine to 12.

He added, however, that one should never minimize the importance of the problem and that the problem large or small does exist.

ACCORDING TO Russell, the Acalanes School District is doing everything it can to lower even more the already low percentage of drop outs.

Last week it was reported in The Sun as to how Contra Costa County is participating in a national crash program to curtail the number of high school "dropouts."

At least 10 million youngsters are expected to drop out of high school during the 60's, without receiving their diplomas.

Social workers are trying to do all they can to give counselling to parents who are on welfare cases, and particularly those whose youngsters will leave school before the 12th grade.

THE FEDERAL government is allocating funds to "distress" areas so that more social workers can be hired and provide counselling to families.

"In welfare we have found all too often the pattern of the school dropout leads to unemployment and then relief," J. J. Wedemeyer, state social welfare director, said.

"Every youth who continues his education is building up insurance against becoming dependent on public assistance in years to come."

Transit Expert Retained For Design Project

He is Alfred E. Wolf, 43, who has served in top engineering capacities for transit organizations in Washington, D.C., and Chicago.

WOLF'S appointment was announced by William A. Bugge, project director for Parson's Brinckerhoff-Tudor-Bechtel, general engineering consultants to the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

For the past two years, Wolf has served as director of equipment design for the National Capital Transportation Agency in Washington, D.C.

Prior to joining NCTA, Wolf served as development engineer and later as equipment engineer for the Chicago Transit Authority. While in Chicago, he participated in development of various new types of transit vehicles.

ACCORDING to Bugge, Wolf will play a key role in formulating the exact design specifications for the high-speed electric trains that are being developed for the Bay Area system.

Pleasant Hill Youths Die In Wyoming Crash

Two Pleasant Hill youths were killed near Evanston, Wyoming, Monday, after attempting to outrun a highway patrol car.

The dead were identified as Michael A. Peterson, 17, of 329 Valley View Road, and Henry H. Haar, 17, of 1978 Lucille Lane.

The chase began after a Wyoming highway patrolman tried to stop the youths for questioning. Sergeant Leonard A. Wold said the car in which they were riding matched the description of a stolen automobile.

WOLD SAID as he pulled alongside the car, the driver, apparently Peterson, speeded up. The car missed a bridge, flew across a stream and crashed into the opposite bank.

Both youths died instantly of multiple injuries.

The car had been stolen in Rock Springs, Wyoming, and was noticed about ten miles north of Evanston.

They were clocked at speeds up to 100 miles an hour.

Wold said the pair had abandoned another stolen car at Kemmerer and transferred its Utah plates to the Rock Springs car.

Demos Will Go To Giants Game

A Painful (In More Ways) Fall

IT REALLY costs to get hurt, an Orinda woman found out to her sad dismay the other day.

Mrs. Lurene Dobell, 59, 21 Linda Vista Court, stepped outside her home to help her husband with some yard work, fell down and broke her leg.

She had to remain at Kaiser Hospital in Walnut Creek for 12 hours while doctors treated her leg.

Board Of Supervisors

The Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors did the following at their Tuesday meeting:

REDISTRICTING — Heard a plan suggested by Supervisor Mel Nielsen, and then put the matter over for further study.

AIRPORT—Adopted a resolution asking the Federal Aviation Agency to release portions of county-operated Buchanan Field for sale to the state and to private interests.

DRAW POKER — Refused a permit requested by the Rex Drive-In in Danville.

BUDGETS — Adopted budgets for special districts. They included Central Fire District, $1,148,854; Mt. Diablo, $964,794, and $3,656,979 for 19 fire districts, with the highest tax rate $1.06 in the Orinda Fire District, and the lowest, two cents in Brentwood.

Improvement Of Fire Districts?

For several years some observers have suggested that the various county fire districts should be consolidated into one or several larger districts.

Last week the Contra Costa County Taxpayers Association also recommended that some districts should be consolidated, based on their suggestion to the Board of Supervisors.

AND BOARD MEMBERS aren't dismissing the thought because they've appointed a committee from which a report can be expected. Comments from commissioners of the various districts will be included in this report.

The taxpayers' group had suggested that a county fire marshal should be appointed and a county fire advisory board established to oversee the consolidated districts.

DISTRICTS PROPOSED for consolidation by the association would include:

Mt. Diablo and Central, which serve Walnut Creek, Pleasant Hill, Concord, Clayton Valley and West Pittsburg.

Moraga with Orinda.

Carquinez with Crockett.

Lafayette and Danville are not affected since they aren't county-controlled.

THE SUN does agree with many individuals and organizations that a thorough study should be conducted of the existing county fire districts, and what good would be accomplished if some of them were consolidated.

Frankly, we don't know if it's a good idea or not.

By appointing a committee, the supervisors have indicated a serious concern over the situation, too.

From the amount of verbiage being flung around, a problem does exist.

VIZ. SHOULD there be a consolidation; if so, in what form should the districts be consolidated or should the present districts be continued and allowed more autonomous control.

Maybe the study, plus public hearings, will uncover some interesting facts.

The Kids Must Watch Out, Too

You've heard this story before but we think it's worth repeating.

The long Labor Day weekend is with us and so's school.

We think it behooves every parent to warn his child of the inherent traffic dangers that exist in suburbia and to instruct him on all necessary precautions.

THE RESPONSIBILITY isn't completely the school's. Neither is it a task to be accomplished by some outside agency.

It rests directly on a parent's shoulders.

Most roads in the Central County area don't have sidewalks. Many children will be using them as they go to and from school.

Children—being the wonderful pieces of nature that they are—get engrossed in their talk with friends. Suddenly, in a bit of childish play, one may dart out into the street. This is tragedy at its worst. Too, they will forget themselves when at bus stops or leaving the buses.

Motorists must be alert, of course. But it is a parent's duty to instill in a child the cooperation he must extend toward the motorist.

He can't wander all over the road; he must be extra cautious when riding a bicycle; he must look both ways when crossing a street.

If motorist and youthful pedestrian think a little bit of each other, we're sure that there won't be any tragedy striking our streets!

The Road that Leads Nowhere

There's nothing funny about being a "dropout."

Nothing good accrues to the boy or girl.

They start roaming because mind isn't geared or trained for any one academic effort—much less for the capable handling of a job.

We live in a world of science and technology today. But our work effort isn't centered in that direction alone. There are hundreds of job categories that provide excellent pay and working conditions.

But what chance does a teen-ager have if he leaves his diploma at the high school.

Very little.

WORSE, national school authorities estimate that at least 10 million boys and girls will become "dropouts" during this decade.

Social workers stress to families on relief the importance of their offspring remaining in school. Federal funds are available to staff agencies with extra workers to help curb the problem.

But the important thing to remember is that the problem doesn't prevail only in the "poorer" areas.

Pro and Con

Let's Get The Facts Straight

(Ed. Note: This week our columnist expresses a viewpoint that concerns many persons — that is, how misinterpreted facts can really foul up the works. A member of the county's Grand Jury, he can even get pretty well riled up on this matter.)

By ROBERT KAHN

Will Rogers used to say "All I know is what I read in the newspaper." Sometimes I feel that they are following this practice when actually what they are doing is accepting evthing they read in a newspaper.

Let us give you a few illustrations of what I mean.

RECENTLY THE Oakland Board of Education met and a representative of the teachers said that it was a sign of a sick society that teachers were getting just a 1 per cent raise and the armed forces were getting much more.

Somebody present or someone reviewing the newspaper article should have wondered about this statement. There are enough ex-servicemen in our community today to know that servicemen don't get annual wage increases like teachers do. It happens that Congress has just given them their first increase in basic pay since June, 1958.

We have had a recent example of the problem of getting at facts in the reaction to the Grand Jury investigation of veterans' tax exemptions. This project is being called, by some, a "witch hunt." It reached a point where there was a newspaper announcement of a meeting of the coordinating committee of the many veteran posts in the county and that they were going to check into the "witch hunt."

The former Grand Jurors, contributing their time to this meeting, found a great deal of misunderstanding about what was done in the investigation and even on what the criteria was for the tax exemption.

It is entirely possible that next year the veterans' posts that originally were incensed by the "witch hunt" will end up assisting the county assessor in disseminating information and eliminating abuses.

Facts—answers to questions —were substituted for "what I read in the newspaper."

Then I read that incorporation of Lafayette hit a snag. The news article was factual—but an important conclusion was missed. They estimate that there will be 930 people within the city boundaries. But when they went to get people to sign the petition for incorporation they found, to quote the attorney, a "sort of unbelievable coincidence that all qualified signers were on vacation."

Can you imagine what sort of city government these 930 people can provide us if they all go on vacation at the same time? If there aren't enough here to sign the petition, what assurance do we have that there are enough present to run a city.

We Like It Here . . .

Back to school, kids! MY Vacation's here . . .

By MARIE MONAHAN

MY SUMMER starts unofficially the first week of September
When back to school & schedule goes each junior family member.
It's then I'll wave the schoolbus by
With snappy Rise & Shine!
It's when I'll have my housework done
At least by half-past nine.
I'll read the morning paper
While I sip a cup of tea.
THE ONLY Crossword hereabouts
Will be the puzzle worked by me.
I'll get to all the gardening I didn't do in June.
The lilac and the lavender will get their yearly prune.
I'll get around to projects I bypassed in July,
Like learning French or taking flying lessons in the sky.
For summer's born that special week—
The skylark's in the tree.
And suddenly SOME time is mine,
'Til maybe half-past three.
For paleface me, it's not too late
To sunbathe on the terrace
While contemplating tourist rate
Of trip to Rome and Paris.
COME DANCE with me, new kitchen broom.
And mantle, meet the duster.
Wax, polish, bucket, mop and pail,
Let's have a fillibuster.
OH, revel in the chance to dig out
Summertime's deposits;
The tents, tarps, bags and rags and mags
In obstacle-course closets.
And faithful vacuum, hum along
To share my gladsome leaping.
Just think! No kids, for once, around,
To intercept our sweeping!
SEPTEMBER WEEK, I'll be reborn.
I'll regulate MY life.
I'll be a sweeter mother.
And more efficient wife.
(The very answer is, of course,
September ends the strife!)
Vacation time's for children,
From June till school bells chime.
But September, sweet September,
Starts MY Vacation Time!

Letters to the Editor

WITH GRATITUDE
EDITOR

I have safely arrived back in Newcastle, and since a fullness of time has been accorded me, it is possible to view my A.F.S. experience with a certain degree of objectivity, albeit well spiced with a hearty dose of nostalgia.

I believe that a foreign exchange student provides a conveniently honest mirror, though perhaps a wee bit cracked in places with happy but unrealistic notions of his, or her, homelands, virtues and excellences.

In retrospect it would appear that I held the mirror very badly at times, but generally I did my best to be objective.

And this is the value of programs like A.F.S.—it leads to continual self-appraisal for both visitor and host.

It also results in the institution of friendships that are uncloaded by nationalistic brasses; and above all to the realization that people are people from what part of the globe their origins.

The citizens of Lafayette, through their generosity, allowed me to enjoy this enlightening experience, and to them I owe, and wholeheartedly offer, all the thanks I can muster.

Sincerely yours,
JONATHAN LAMB

A VOTE FOR BALDWIN
EDITOR:

I am an enlightened Democratic voter. I know that the majority of the voters in Contra Costa County are also registered Democrats. I must assume that many others besides myself are amazed and pleased to find that our incumbent representative in Congress does truly represent us.

If you read Congressman John Baldwin's newsletters carefully, with an eye out for consistencies, you will find that his voting record does represent both the liberal and democratic views. It follows, then, that I am being well represented by my representative in Congress. I whole-heartedly support his voting record. I believe he reflects the opinion of the average voter in this county. I also believe that his pose of being a "liberal" can be substantiated.

Congressman Baldwin knows what his constitutents want and goes out to get it. He does not sit on any fences; nor does he have any ancient boned skeleton in any closet requiring a smoke screen to hide it like some Democrats are prone to say.

The Democratic Party is indeed fortunate to have someone who fully represents its points of view and I for one am happy to see an "entrenched" Republican representing us. As the years roll on, Contra Costa County will continue to be one of the most represented counties in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Humor Best When It Is Unintended

By DICK HOUSE

Standing—or rather, seated —before you is a man with a problem. He is "the new man in the office" who, in the first week of his walk in the Sun, found himself confronted with the responsibility of turning out a column.

Hence, it would be tough to wax poetic about the job and the surroundings. And, by the way, who came up with this word "wax"—as opposed to "wane"? I personally would prefer to wane. As I think of it, Wayne—if I had it—would be a pretty easy name for me to live up to.

My wife is the one person who knows well how hard it is to get me to wax—the car, the floors, the furniture.

SO, IF I MAY, I'd like just to hit here and wane, rambling aimlessly through the next few paragraphs.

I've always had fun recalling the amusing things I've collected from the Vox Populi. What I refer to are those rare bits of unintentional humor that have come to be known as "spoonerisms." Tom Swifties may be all the rage, but I lean on these, he said, angularly.

By way of example, there was the dairy store clerk who asked if I wanted "the pasteurized or the other kind."

There was the man who spoke of a friend having "one of those Simonese cats," and that he never had trouble with his radiator because he always cleaned it out with "pneumonia."

HE TOLD OF a person being struck on the head and being "berkshire" for three days, while the resulting gash required six "liturgies" to close.

My favorite humorist, H. Allen Smith, in his book, "How to Write Without Saying Nothing" (see, I'm taking his advice), told of their maid who, when upset, drank a whole bottle of "nervous" medicine.

The same maid, in commenting on a neighbor, said she acted as if "butter wouldn't melt in her house." Smith's wife told of going to the movies and seeing one feature about the "French American Legion," while in the second bill, it was all about someone going to "Casey Jones' Locker."

MY OLD FIRST SERGEANT could be steadfastly relied upon to come up with a jawbreaker. He was infuriated with us over something one day and the blurted mishmash was:

"Men, now you guys can all hang together or you can all hang separately and that goes for the Yoo-nighted States Army and the American Constitution!"

On the company armory re once attached this laboriously scrawled missive: "This armory is off limits A 1800 hours. no Exceptions Is excusable."

A generation ago it was no different and among my family heirlooms are the verbal flubs dad and grandad picked up as they chuckled through life.

Dad told of the lazy farmer who lived down the road from Granpaw. He loafed through "hayin' " and when winter roared in, he had no fodder and came around to beg.

"Shripes, John," he moaned,—he had a speech impediment, too—"had nuff hay ta last the sow (cow) all winter and tha durned salf got in tha barn last night and et it all!"

IN MY OWN recollection is the old immigrant railroader, still feeling his way with English. He messed up the description of how his chest was hurt in a fall. "Don't laugh, you blankety-blanks, I broke my heart! I can't get no draft!"

He was crawling over the couplers between two railcars and had slipped, whacking his chest soundly against the rail.

He couldn't understand why he had fallen because "I crawl through those cars always before same like it."

There's the mouths of babes, too. One little girl, after hearing the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," insisted that He was trampling out the vintage "where the Great Giraffes are stored." Another little guy commented that his buddy couldn't keep his "shirt tucktailed in."

Another tad, awakened at 6 a.m. by his father, up and about getting breakfast, stumbled out heavy-lidded, with this comment, "Daddy, why do you always get up in the sleepy part of the morning?"

This is bedlam, Tom said sleepily.

Ho Do You Solve This Momentous Problem?

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

Today let's discuss the No. 1 problem in Central Contra Costa County.

What system do you use to remember to hit the light switch?

My neighbor keeps one hand on the light switch until he drives into the daylight on the other side.

A studious Sun staff member ridicules all this. "Why not concentrate on the problem and just remember to turn them off. Don't forget there's a white sign to remind you," he declares. "Just don't think of other things when driving the tunnel! Use your powers of concentration!"

One commuter ride pool employs another system: as the car enters the tunnel, the driver appoints one rider "to remember."

Another commuter solves his problem with no stress or strain. Or no lights. He simply doesn't turn his lights on. He must have exceptionally good eyesight—and faith in his fellow man.

There must be some better methods than these. What does your neighbor do? What do you do when you go through the tunnel?

Please let me know.

Letters to The Editor

A NIGHT OF HONOR
EDITOR:

Due to the fact that baseball season is completed it is not possible to contact everyone concerned personally; therefore, we would like to express our appreciation to all the managers, coaches, umpires and boys in the Walnut Creek Junior Baseball Program who helped to make the "Joe McElroy Appreciation Nite" a success.

The gifts received will be most enjoyed by all members of the family. This occasion will long be remembered and the thoughts behind it very much appreciated. There are many more things that could be said, however, we will but say "thank you" again.

THE MC ELROYS

(Ed Note: Joe McElroy, Walnut Creek Recreation Department Supervisor, was recently honored by the Walnut Creek Youth Athletic Association. A number of gifts were contributed by local merchants and youngsters participating in the progam in recognition of McElroy's role in the junior baseball program.)

BALDWIN ATTACKED
EDITOR:

I am a dissatisfied Contra Costa Democrat. It is a fact that a large majority of this county's balloters are democrats. Yet, for the last several years they have been re-electing Republican John Baldwin to represent us in the House of Representatives because of his apparent but false affirmations to remain impartial and to support President Kennedy.

Reading his newsletter carefully you find consistant contradictions and inconsistencies. I shall list two of them below:

HE TRIED to "carry water on both shoulders" when voting on the president's bill for the enlargement of the House Rules Committee. First, Baldwin voted with the Rep-Dixiecrats coalition against the "Previous Ques. Motion" to limit debate on this bill. Then, seeing that since the "Previous Ques." carried and the bill was sure to pass, he switched his vote from nay to yay and reported only the latter vote in his subsequent newsletter.

In his April 19th newsletter he made a direct attack upon former Gov. Harriman. Harriman has distinguished himself by serving on important assignments through the Roosevelt, Truman and Kennedy administrations where he was the prime mover in the recently negotiated nuclear testban agreement with Russia and Britain. It is obvious that Baldwin was engaging in political chincannery.

THE FACT that this county voted for Baldwin and for Kennedy is an almost inconceivable relationship. We need a congressman who will execute the wishes of his constituents. We do not want or need a man who attempts to hide the facts of his faulty representation.

If the Democratic Party cannot find a candidate who can represent us more efficiently we will witness the Republicans who will take our vote in Congress. If this comes to pass we will receive just what we deserve . . . being a county without true representation in the House of Representatives!

ANTI RAPID TRANSIT
EDITOR

Recently one of the newspapers printed a glowing account of what the so called rapid transit would do for this area.

Having had 33 years experience handling rail transportation as a passenger conductor on railroads, it is my firm conviction that this so called rapid transit will never pay for itself and the only ones to benefit will be the money lenders who put this thing over.

After thinking this matter over at length, I have come to the conclusion that the only thing to do is sell out and get out of this community. When I moved here it was with the idea of having a place where I could have my grand-children visit me and live a life of peace.

With the high taxes this rapid transit will bring, I find I cannot stand the burden. So, my house is up for sale and anyone wishing to profit, they can get a good buy if they act at once. I will sell to the first qualified buyer regardless of race, creed or color.

Diablo Symphony Auxiliary's Get-Together

Object: To help members of the orchestra to become better acquainted and also to entertain the wives of male personnel.

Pandora Plantation Party

The spacious Orinda gardens of the Paul Handlery estate will be a beautiful, natural setting for the antebellum decor of magnolias and mint for Pandora's Plantation Party, September 7.

Pandora's President Mrs. Robeson E. Smith of Orinda, Mrs. Paul Handlery, and Mmes. Ivan L. MacDonald and Ted E. Snyder, co-chairmen of Pandora's big annual cocktail party will be on hand to greet the guests at Contra Costa's first gala of the fall season.

Invitations co-chairman Mmes. John J. Moran and Jack Van Gelder report over 500 invitations have been mailed by members of the Pandora Chapter of the Children's Home Society of California.

Each year the proceeds from this spectacular party aid the adoption program of the Children's Home Society of California, the oldest and only state-wide private adoption agency. The society is a non-profit organization and a member of the United Crusade of Contra Costa County.

Other plantation party committee heads are: Mmes. Paul Moore and L. Conway Smith, hors d'oevres; Mmes Kenneth Hoffman and Leland Nelson, decorations; Mrs. James M. Barcelon, publicity; Mrs. John Banister, tickets; Mrs. Lew Doty, refreshments; Mrs. Paul Handlery, music, and Mrs. John Phillips, clean-up.

Among the southern colonels and their grand ladies, hoop-skirted belles and beaux one may find Rhett Butler, Scarlett and Belle, Johnny Reb, and a river boat queen or two!

Lafayette, Kentucky Enjoined

Church decorations consisted of palms and foliage interspersed with candlelabra holding white wedding tapers. White snapdragons and asters were used in a large floral basket and in small arrangements.

Traditional wedding music was presented by Mrs. Joe Buchanan, organist. Mrs. James Chester Claypool of Danville, Kentucky, soloist, was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. L. C. McCloud.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of bridal white pintucked silk organza designed with a deep oval neckline and short sleeves outlined in hand-clipped chantilly lace. Garlands of lace encircled the dome skirt, and a removable chapel train was held at the waistline by a crushed cummerbund.

Her veil of illusion fell from a cluster of self fabric roses studded with tiny pearls. She carried a white pearl covered Bible topped with gardenias, stephanotis, and ivy.

Mrs. Charles MacInnes of Marathon, New York served as matron of honor.

Rita and Ruth Denney, twin cousins of the bride, served as flower girls. They wore white silk organza dresses with coral sashes and carried baskets of rose petals.

After a wedding trip to Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Yabroff will reside in Ithaca, New York. Both will be enrolled in the graduate school at Cornell University.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES HULL BLEE
(Suzanne Slocum)
Orinda Community Church nuptials

Suzanne Slocum Is Bride

Orinda Community Church was the setting for the recent marriage of Suzzanne Slocum and Charles Hull Blee. The Rev. Chauncey E. Blossom was clergyman.

Suzanne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Slocum, 3023 Rohrer Drive, Lafayette. The Slocums moved here two years ago from Lexington Fields, Palatine, Illinois, a suburb of Chicago.

Suzanne wore a full length gown of chantilly lace and chiffon with chapel train edged in lace. The lace bodice was appliqued with small seed pearl and sequin. She wore a seed pearl crown.

The bride carried a white orchid cascade and a lace handkerchief belonging to the groom's grandmother. Another sentimental touch was a seed pearl ring which had been worn by the bride's grandmother 62 years ago, as well as by the two sisters of the bride.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Carol A. Gabel, sister of the bride, Roselle, Ill.; Miss Jill Vine, La Canada; and Mrs. Helen Coolbaugh, cousin of the groom.

Suzanne attended Lincoln Junior College in Illinois where she was secretary-treasurer of the student council. She is now doing secretarial work.

Charles attended Santa Rosa Junior College and San Jose State College. He studied engineering and served two years in the Army.

NURSING DIPLOMA — Judy Rasmussen Schab received her diploma from Samuel Merritt Hospital School of Nursing Seniors, last Friday night. Judy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Rasmussen of Lafayette. She became the bride of Thomas L. Schab the end of last year at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Orinda.

First Birthday Is Celebrated

Randy Lucido's first birthday was the occasion for a celebration August 10. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lucido, invited the following guests to their Lafayette home:

Mrs. Walter Nellis, Mrs. Tom Rizzo, Liza and Angela; Mrs. Roger Ballagi and Stephen; Mrs. Paul Berga and Michael; Mrs. Tony Bonanno; Mr. and Mrs. Duke Di Maggio, grandparents; Miss Joan Gundershaug, and Miss Jackie Nellis.

Diane Is Now Mrs. Mulks, III

The former Diane Evelyn Brysiewicz changed her name to Mrs. George Walter Mulks III at a 2 p.m. service Saturday.

George is the son of Mrs. Norma Mulks of Orinda and the late George Walter Mulks II.

The alter was flanked by candelabra and white floral arrangements. White dahlia leis and satin ribbon adorned the family pews. White runner and white satin kneeling pillows were used by the bride and groom.

Diane wore a gown with chantilly lace bodice and Sabrina neckline. It had long sleeves, with seed pearl and sequin trim at the neckline. The floor length hoop skirt was of silk organza and lace. It had a chapel train.

Diane is a 1963 graduate of Miramonte High School. She will attend Oakland City College this fall.

The benedict is also a Miramonte graduate. He received his associate in arts degree from Oakland City College, and plans a career in photography.

A reception at Orinda Country Club followed the church service. Decor was silver and white. Each layer of the four-tiered wedding cake was set on columns and decorated with the traditional doves, bells, roses and silver leaves. It was surrounded by gardenias and topped by an ornamental bride and groom.

MAJOR OPERATIONS

Over 4000 major operations have been performed aboard the white hospital ship S. S. Hope during its two voyages and nearly half a million people have been examined and immunized.

Gale Gibson Weds

The groom's mother is Mrs. Frances M. Costello of Tulare.

Dr. K. Fillmore Gray performed the 3 p.m. candlelite service before an altar decorated with white stock and gladioli.

The bridal gown was a white ballerina length silk organza over peau-de-soie. It had a lace bodice and three-quarter sleeves.

The short veil was held by a lace and pearl crown. Gayle carried a crescent of white stephanotis and white roses.

Richard is a UC graduate. He will enter Hastings School of Law this fall.

Lombardy Cocktail Party

Lombardy Branch, Children's Hospital of the East Bay, is again planning for its annual cocktail party. It will be September 14 from 5 to 8 p.m., according to branch chairman, Mrs. Thomas Connolly.

The setting will be the beautiful and spacious gardens of the Edward Daly home in Orinda, and as fitting to the surroundings, an olde English theme will adorn the grounds.

Mrs. Arthur Lundblad, chairman, has planned a separate mint julip bar. Guests will be entertained throughout the evening by the strains of banjos.

Other committee chairmen are: Mrs. Lloyd Hecathorn, bar; Mrs. Robert Bower, decorations; Mrs. Thomas Howard, transportation; Mrs. William Hanford, schedules; Mrs. James Love, Mrs. Alan Grey, Mrs. Hugh MacIntyre, food, and Mrs. William Leonard, invitations.

Ticket donations will be $1 per person. Proceeds will benefit the part-pay program at Children's Hospital.

EVE BRESSLER AND DAVID HUPP

David Hupp To Marry

David Hupp of Orinda will claim Eve Townsend Bressler of Berkeley as his bride December 18.

Betrothal of the young couple was told recently by the bride-elect's parents, Professor and Mrs. Raymond G. Bressler Jr. The occasion of the family gathering, ostensibly, was the celebration of Eve's birthday.

Dave is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Hupp, 15 Vallecito Lane, Orinda. His grandmother is Mrs. H. C. Moorman of Orinda.

Dave's sisters are Mrs. Rolfe K. Williams and Mrs. R. H. Scheel, both of Burlingame.

Eve is a June, 1962, graduate of Stanford University. She is presently a graduate student at the University of California, Berkeley, and works at the radiation laboratory.

Dave is an Acalanes High School graduate. He attended Iowa State College and UC at Los Angeles. In Feburary, 1963, he received his degree from the Berkeley campus of UC, where he is now a graduate student.

Nancy Wallace Earns Art Degree

Lovely Nancy Claire Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wallace of Dover Court, Orinda, recently graduated in theater arts at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Nancy's sorority at Cal's Berkeley campus and UCLA is Delta Gamma.

She has danced on tour in Europe as well as making many American appearances, including the Ed Sullivan show. She is the cover girl of the August Dance magazine, which also has the story of her career.

Kick-off For Dental Wives

The 1963-64 activities of the Women's Auxiliary of the Contra Costa Dental Society promises to be especially exciting and fast moving.

The first general meeting will start things rolling September 10 at Mike Lynn's, Orinda, at 11:30 a.m.

After luncheon and during dessert, several children of dental families will model fashions from Klad-Ezee Children's and Pony Tail Shop, Walnut Creek.

Mrs. David Tittle, Walnut Creek, program chairman, has also invited Mrs. Erwin Spieker of Spieker's Cake Shop, Concord.

Mrs. Spieker will demonstrate not only the intricacies of professional cake decorating but will also give us an abundance of helpful hints which will be very useful in culinary endeavors at home.

Reception Chairman, Mrs. John Bradley, Concord, has asked Mrs. Allen Lagier, Concord, Mrs. Richard Fulgham, Lafayette, Mrs. Donald Dierkes, Orinda and Mrs. Robert Dickson, Alamo, to act as luncheon hostesses.

Mrs. Allen Lagier, ways and maens chairman has announced that September 14 has been selected for the auxiliary's first social event.

It will be a cocktail party from 5 to 8 p.m. in the gardens of Dr. and Mrs. Louis M. Ellis, 1718 Via Del Verdes, Concord. The theme will be "Autumn Artistry."

Louis Gutierrez, a young California artist of steadily growing reputation will be exhibiting his works in oils, collages and water colors. Although Gutierrez has had several one man shows and gallery exhibitions, winning numerous awards, this will be the first time that he has brought his works to a private garden showing.

Music will be provided for dancing by the George Blackshire combo. Sumptious canapes and hors d'oeuvres, prepared by auxiliary members, will be served with cocktails.

Mrs. Allen Lagier, 3855 Maplewood Court, Concord (682-0675- asks that auxiliary members, their guests and all those washing to attend this elegant event, contact her in advance for tickets.

Edward Rinne Will Marry

From Seattle, comes the romantic news that Edward E. Rinne, a former Orindan, will marry Maureen Logue.

Edward's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Rinne now reside in Berkeley. Until recently, their address was 25 Van Tassel Lane, Orinda.

Edward graduated from Acalanes High School. He received his bachelor and master's degrees from the University of California, Berkeley, where his fraternity was Sigma Phi.

Date for the wedding will be November 7 of this year.

Diablo Women's Garden Club To Meet Wednesday

Diablo Women's Garden Club will hold its first meeting of the fall season at The Lafayette Wednesday at 10:30 a.m.

John Wheatman, in charge of the decorating department at Jackson's Furniture will speak on "Integrating House and Garden."

Wheatman has just returned from a European trip, returning with many additional new ideas. He is a lecturer on interior design with the University of California extension division.

He will illustrate his talk using fabrics and rugs. Mrs. Peter Jarratt, program chairman, will introduce the speaker.

Luncheon and the introduction of the following new members are also on the agenda: Mesdames Frank Burnett, Robert Eubanks, George L. Maddox, Manuel Giffin, Edward Wanous, Louise De Val, Louis Swain, Chester H. Eshen Jr., David Humphrey, Harold W. Smith, Kenneth Street Jr., Bernard Gallacher, William P. Deaton, Charles E. Schumacher, Joseph Hussey and James W. Routh.

Suburban Safari No. 2

"Safari #2" to Wildwood Acres is the title to the annual steak barbecue for spouses given by the Lafayette Suburban Woman's Club.

Also invited is the membership of the Lafayette Suburban Woman's Club, Juniors, and their husbands. Plans for Saturday evening, September 7, include cocktails, dinner, entertainment and dancing.

Mrs. Joseph Penzien is the general chairman. She is being assisted by the Mesdames Edward Allen, Gordon Frazell, William Hawkins, Charles Kennett, Boyd Larson, Roger Loper, Joseph Van Overveen and Malcolm Welsh.

Mrs. Joseph Van Overveen, president, has activated all chairmen and planning sessions are now in progress, including the Arts Unlimited section whose chairman is Mrs. Robert Stratton.

Others included and already at work are the Mmes. Richard Grothman, membership and anual tea chairman; Marcel Lescure, couples section; E. R. Riksheim, philanthropic and Edward Allen, community improvement, two year project. For the latter, Lafayette won first prize at their district convention last year.

The bridge sections chairman, Mrs. Herbert Breckling, afternoon, and Mrs. Alan McDonald, evening, continued the popular activity throughout the summer.

Back-To-School Styles Have 'Sportive' Look

"The Cottage" in Walnut Creek will display "Glen of Michigan" coordinates, "Chubettes," and fall playwear at noon and at 1 p.m.

Mrs. Harold Vincent of Walnut Creek, a member of the Flicker Unit of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center, will coordinate the showing.

Facilities are available for meetings, luncheons, and bridge parties. Gourmet luncheons are served daily, except Monday, from noon until 2 p.m.

Reservations and information may be obtained by calling 925-0121. All proceeds from the tearoom benefit the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center.

Household Hints

by Joan March Worden
Director, Pine Cleaner Information Center.

Ask a woman and you'll get an opinion — especially on subjects close to home like housecleaning.

Interviewers for the Gallup Survey rang doorbells recently with 6 questions for the lady of the house. If they didn't get to you, here's a chance to measure your answers with those who got counted.

1. Q. Do you think a household cleaner should also act as a disinfectant, deodorant, or both?
   A. 79 per cent of the women interviewed wanted triple-duty products.
2. Q. Have you changed to a pine oil cleaner recently?
   A. One out of every eight women said they changed from nonpine to pine oil brand within the last year.
3. Q. Do you use disinfectants in your home?
   A. 81 per cent of the women interviewed do.
4. Q. For what purposes do you use disinfectants in your home?
   A. Big use is in the bathroom (8 out of 10 women use them here). More than half use disinfectants in general cleaning.
5. Q. Do you use a disinfectant in doing the laundry?
   A. 39 per cent of the women who use disinfectants use them in the laundry.
6. Q. Is pine oil added to household cleaners to make it smell better, to improve cleaning, or to kill germs?
   A. Women interviewed gave various opinions. The correct answer to this one is that pine oil is added to improve cleaning and to kill germs — the pleasant aroma is an added plus.

For a set of six free "Household Hints" leaflets, write to Dept. CR, Pine Cleaner Information Center, 1028 Connecticut Ave., Washington 6, D. C.

Swallows Prepare For Annual Dessert-Bridge

It's that time of year again when the Swallow Unit, Mt. Diablo Therapy Center invite friends and guests to gather for dessert and bridge in the homes of their members.

Thursday, September 19, is the date and one o'clock is the time.

The homes of Mmes Milton F. Bruzzone, Leo Schell, Ted Barcelon, Bruce Stringer, Arthur Bertolero, Richard Emory, and Lawrence Brekas have been selected as party locations.

Decorations will be in a Bacchanalian mood with the festival of wine depicted in table centerpieces.

Mrs. Thomas Bridgeford, chairman, has announced the following committees and chairmen:

Mrs. Joseph Troy and Mrs. William Morgan, decorations; Mrs. Richard Dawson, favors. Mmes. Ted Barcelon, James Simonds, Wayne Goodell, Robert Lord, tallies; Mrs. Richard Bishop, door prizes.

Reservations may be obtained by telephoning 283-8109.

SONIA DANIELSON AND CLAUDE MONLUX

Sonia's Troth Revealed

Immediate family and close friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Swen A. Danielson in Walnut Creek for a candlelight buffet dinner announcing the engagement of their daughter, Sonia Louise, to Claude James Monlux.

Among the guests were Sonia's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Simmen of Twain Harte and Mr. and Mrs. James A. Dewing of Walnut Creek, grandparents of Claude.

She was assisted in serving by Valerie Simmen of Sacramento and Mrs. Earl Knecht of Walnut Creek, two of the girls Sonia has already chosen to attend her at her wedding in the early spring.

Sonia and Claude are graduates of Las Lomas High School, class of '61. Sonia attended Willis College of Business for business training and is employed by a local firm.

Officers Wives Will Convene

Mrs. Earl Hoey, luncheon chairman and Mrs. T. E. Hilson of Lafayette will act as hostesses when the East Bay Reserve Officers' Association Ladies Club will hold its first luncheon meeting of the fall. It will be at the Berkeley City Club September 11. A social hour will start at noon, followed by luncheon in the patio room.

Following the business meeting Mrs. Vernon Bullock, parliamentarian, will give a talk on ROAL, tracing the organization from its inception and explaining its purpose and goals. Mrs. Bullock was the first Department of California President of ROAL and has continued her interest in the organization for over 30 years.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. J. F. Williamson.

Yosemite Plans Bridge

The John Muir Memorial Hospital is becoming a reality to all who pass the site, as you can now see the structural steel rising into the sky.

The Yosemite Guild is busily planning its annual bridge luncheon for September 25 at 11:30 a.m. All proceeds will go to the building fund. Money will continue to be raised in the future.

It will be held in the homes of eight of these members with the other members assisting:

Mrs. Harold Lavick, Lafayette, assisted by Mrs. Donald Campbell and Mrs. R. W. Goodale.

Mrs. George Talbott, Lafayette, assisted by Mrs. J. J. Hague and Mrs. Lyall O. Bishop.

Mrs. Neal Campbell, Lafayette, assisted by Mrs. T. H. Elrod and Mrs. J. R. Findleton..

Mrs. Robert Miller, Alamo, assisted by Mrs. Edward Merrill and Mrs. W. L. Meima, Mrs. Richard Frad, Lafayette, assisted by Mrs. F. Rippingham and Mrs. K. Forsmann.

Mrs. James Terrell, Moraga, assisted by Mrs. Jack Prescott.

Mrs. Ralph Hanna, Walnut Creek, assisted by Mrs. Richard Emory.

800 Swimmers Vie at LYA Meet

This year's Lafayette Youth Association Contra Costa County Swim Championship, Sept. 14-15, is expected to be one of the most competitive meets held with some 800 swimmers representing over 25 teams, vying for the perpetual trophy and individual medals and ribbons.

The first three-place winners will be awarded medals, with ribbons going to the next two in each of the 72 events.

The winning team goes home with two trophies—one to keep and the perpetual trophy which must be returned the following year.

Gavin High, who handles this year's publicity for the Lafayette Youth Association, stressed the point that the swim championship is a self supporting non-profit event.

"YEAR AFTER YEAR, the committee involved in setting up the meet hopes that the event breaks even," said High.

"They don't sell advertising space in the programs and they don't ask the merchants to kick in a few bucks.

"Each year The Sun Newspapers have stood behind the event to meet any minor financial crisis, but to date no such crisis has occurred," Gavin said.

IN REFERRING to the origin of the LYA, Gavin said that three years ago LYA Coach Dick Dobbins and one of the parents, Frances High, hit on the idea of asking a few of the recreation teams in the county to come over and swim against each other.

From this modest idea an annual championship meet has grown to full proportions.

Dobbins, though no longer coach and Mrs. High, no longer a team member, still are active participants.

GAVIN SAID that many of the parents of swimmers work night and day to get the meet underway.

Others officiate at the two-day meet.

"Last year, Bob Malin, Lafayette resident and owner of Oscar's in Berkeley, donated services and much of the food for the snack bar," said Gavin.

Gavin said that each year George Sutton and Don Nesbitt have given their time to make the meet a success.

BRUCE BRITOS, this year's LYA swim coach, has also served on the planning committee.

Gavins also said that considering the charges to enter the meet, the entry fees are quite modest.

HE SAID THE public will not be charged.

The annual LYA swim meet is a fine example of community effort where adults in the community give freely of their time in the interest of the youngsters.

Many swimmers, formerly swimming for The Lafayette Youth Association, have gone on to high school and national AAU swimming fame.

Orindan Reports Soon For Yale Gridiron Squad

Jonathan Jensen, 52 Charles Hill Road, Orinda, has been invited to report for Yale's preseason football drills opening Monday.

Jensen is among 100 candidates invited back by Head Coach John Pont. The Bulldogs, beginning their first campaign under the direction of Pont, will waste no time in taking up the rigors of conditioning. Twice-daily drills will be conducted in New Haven, Conn., until the start of classes on September 19.

A graduate of Miramonte High School, Jensen will be a tackle candidate. He is majoring in political science at Yale.

The 1963 season will mark the 91st year in Yale's great football history. Since undertaking football in 1872, Yale teams have compiled more victories (592), scored more points (17,175) than any other team, plus producing the greatest number (81) of All-American players.

John Pont, Yale's 31st head football coach, will direct the Elis when they open their current campaign against Connecticut in the beautiful Yale Bowl on September 28. He previously served as head coach at Miami of Ohio for seven years.

Our Gridiron Stars Of Tomorrow

Remember Dad when you were a boy, the big football games you used to have with other neighborhoods?

Recall those titantic struggles of the Maple Ave. Wildcats with the Bridge Ave. Athletic Club—or whatever the particular name happened to be.

The equipment was pretty scarce. A few vintage helmets, used cleats and pads. The field was usually a vacant lot. The playbook consisted of somebody diagramming a play in the dirt during the huddle.

Then there was the beautiful mayhem. The exquisite joy of physical combat. The marks of battle, the skinned noses, black eyes and sprained ankles that were worn as badges of honor.

Well go out and check what's doing with the small fry of today' Go out and see what's with the Pop Warner League.

This is football for youngsters between the ages of 12 and 15. There's a size limit of 130 pounds. And the boys have also got to maintain good scholastic standings to stay on the team. you wouldn't it?

THAT WOULD have tossed Get a load of the equipment. Strictly top drawer. Every bit as good as what the pros use. None of that hand-me-down jazz.

Organized? About like the National Football League.

Each club has a staff, not just one coach, but a staff of well qualified coaches. Men that have played and taught the game.

They sweat their charges, instilling the fundamentals and the finer points of the game. Blocking, tackling, passing, kicking, the whole bit.

THEY'RE TWO entries in the East Bay Division of the Northern California Pop Warner Conference operating in our area. The La Morinda Thunderbirds and the Pleasant Hill Rebel. Concord and Martinez are also represented.

Strong contenders last year, the Thunderbirds, according to Coach Villa, appear to be on the young side. Young even by league standards where there is a great turnover of players.

"We have only Mike Davis of Danville returning in our backfield," Villa said. "But there are some good looking youngsters that could take up the slack. Charley Thompson for an example. But's going to be hard trying to catch up with Pittsburg and Richmond. These two beat," reports Coach Villa. beat," reports oCach Villa.

OVER AT Pleasant Hill, the picture is a little more optimistic. The Rebels, going into their second season of play, have 12 veterans returning from a squad that had a 4-4 record in their first year.

Heading up the coaching staff for the Rebels is Fred Howell, who played his ball at LSU. Assisting Howell is ex-Gael John Bergamini and Roy Randall.

These dedicated young men mean business. And the youngsters had better be equally serious, or forget the whole thing.

This isn't just a lark. The boys are learning football, the way it should be played. They're learning skills and becoming a team. For an athlete, nothing could be better.

The name of the game is still contact. But because of the equipment, coaching and medical care, the casualty rate isn't nearly what it was in your day.

By The Numbers—Morinda coaches, Don Ong and Red Jones run the Thunderbirds through calisthenics. —Sun photo

Sunday will mark the opening of the dove season. So be careful with that scatter-gun. I'm not going to tell you what the limit is for dove for one simple reason. When you get your license, get a copy of the hunting laws while your at it. This way I won't be a crutch for you. Odds are too that you'll be wantin' to shoot just more than dove this year. An extra duck has been added to the waterfowl season this year. Be careful and have fun hunting. Don't spoil it for the other guy, as well as yourself.

Last week I mentioned that I was going to cover the West Coast Tackle Jobbers show and I did. So until I run out of material for copy, here's the scoop. The annual Sports and Boat show, which will be called the Festival of Fishing will be held Jan. 31st to Feb. 9th at the Cow Palace.

As for what's new, gad don't mention it. I wore my poor dogs out running thru the 70 rooms of gear on display last weekend at the Sheraton-Palace in San Francisco. I gotta start sometime on this, so it may as well be now.

Luhr Jensen and Sons will be endeared to the heart of the trout fisherman that use salmon eggs. They have solved the problem of keeping eggs on your hook, singly and in clusters as well as solving the problem of spoilage. Get a jar of their 'Jensenegg.' They are soft, supple and sexy with a fish-enticing odor. You simply can't tell the difference 'tween a real egg and the 'Jensenegg.' They're made of soft plastic.

Now here's one for you black bass fishermen. The Creek Chub Bait Co. of Garrett, Ind. has a lure called the 'Cray-Z-Fish.' It's a lure shaped very much like a crayfish. And they guarantee this lure to this extent. The Creek Chub people are so confident that 'Cray-Z-Fish' is going to mean a year of creel busting catches for you that they are sponsoring a Big Fish Contest. Five $100.00 prizes will be given to those catching the biggest fish in the following categories: Large Mouth Bass, Small Mouth Bass, Trout, Northern Pike and Walleyed Pike. All Cray-Z-Fish owners are eligible. You'll get all necessary info and an entry blank in every Cray-Z-Fish lure box.

That famous bamboo rod maker in San Francisco has also gone to making 'em from fiberglass. The name is Winston. Quality doesn't budge one inch at all.—And this isn't all either in new gear for '64. Stay tuned to this column, at least until the Festival of Fishing for what's new in hunting and fishing gear. There's lots more to talk about.

Jr. Horsemen Meet Proves Big Success

The next three places for high points were scored by Miss Michele Cardinet, Joan Stege and Rick Smith.

The Playday was held on the Orin Ranch, Concord.

Golf Gals To Hold 'Funday' On Sunday

The Reliez Valley Country Club Woman's Golf Association will hold a "Funday on Sunday" tournament and dinner, Sept. 8, beginning at 1 p.m.

It will include a Mr. and Mrs. tournament that is not to be revealed in detail until tee-off time, according to the co-chairman.

Prizes will be awarded for various mysterious accomplishments.

Danville Swim Meet To Feature Many Teams

Synchronized swimming clubs will compete in the Far Western championships to be held at Danvillie September 14-15.

A banquet, featuring a talk by Mel Nielsen, a member of the Contra Costa County board of supervisors, will be held the evening of September 13.

After the swim contests are concluded, State Senator George Miller Jr. will present the awards.

All contestants must be registered with the AAU. Solo entrants must be unattached, but teams and duets must represent an organization or school.

Reliez Valley Country Club Gets New Mgr.

Lou Mancini, of Lafayette, former manager of Diablo and Castlewood Country Clubs, has been employed by Robert Alvarez, Reliez Valley Country Club owner to manage the clubs operation.

Mancini spent his first week meeting leaders of the various organizations within the club and meeting members.

Alvarez will remain active as the clubs director but will busy himself mostly with outside contacts.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 30, 1963

SPRINGBOARD TO SUCCESS — Champion Paige Petersen, Sherman Swim School diver, displays form that won her first place in the Far Western diving championships.

Sherman Divers Grab Far West Championships

Lafayette's Sherman Divers walked off with their share of victories last week as they dominated the team standings of the Far West Diving Championships at Los Altos Hills Country Club.

Jane Favor, Norma Chandler and Paige Peterson successfully defended their age-group titles, as a total of six mid-county competitors took first place honors against divers from the nine western states.

Miss Favor, of Lafayette, won the 13-14 division.

Norma Chandler of Walnut Creek claimed top honors in the girls' 15-17 division, followed by Sherman divers Mary Ann Rudrich, third, and Becky Chamberlain's fourth-place finish.

The 11-12 diving competition was won by Mike Sullivan, with Randy Horton taking second and Dennis Emke taking fourth.

Patti Hodge was third in the same age group for girls, following Paige Peterson.

THE SHERMAN Swim School will present its annual Labor Day Water Show from 12 to 1 p.m., with no charge to the public.

The show will feature springboard diving, comedy diving acts and synchronized swimming.

The pool will be open for public swimming following the event.

Sherman Swim School is located at 1075 Carol Lane, Lafayette.

Volunteer Bureau Needs You!

Now autumn is around the corner—and you start thinking of back to school, fall and winter wardrobe and—what was it that you promised yourself??? You remember . . . VOLUNTEER WORK!!

The Volunteer Bureau, a Crusade sponsored agency, has something new and challenging to offer . . . an opportunity to help combat adult illiteracy in the community!

CLASSES TO train volunteer teachers in the Laubach method will begin September 10 in the Walnut Creek area.

The 10-week course, under the Acalanes Adult Education Program, will be given as a community service, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon Tuesdays.

The usual registration fee will be charged.

Qualified teachers will teach this simplified method of reading and writing on an individual basis or to small groups of "functional illiterates" or foreign born, referred by the welfare department, churches or individuals.

EX-SCHOOL teachers, senior citizens and retired men and women—here's an excellent way of staying a part of your community.

You will be teaching adults who WANT to learn to read and write, but have had to first overcome tremendous obstacles. Remember, a literate adult can better support his or her family and community!

Make note . . . September 10 isn't very far off—we need you in the class . . . we'd like to tell you more about Laubach method and register you at the Volunteer Bureau, 2363 Boulevard Circle, Walnut Creek, 934-0424.

State & County To Conduct Acreage Survey

County Agricultural Commissioner Arthur L. Seeley announced today that the State Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with the County Department of Agriculture, has started their Fruit, Nut and Vine Acreage Survey in Contra Costa County this week.

It is planned that personnel hired by the state will complete the survey by the end of September.

ACCORDING TO Assistant Agricultural Commissioner Kenneth E. Danielson, the State Department of Agriculture Crop and Livestock Reporting Service conducts this survey throughout California counties every four years.

Every owner or operator of an orchard or vineyard will be contacted and asked to provide information as to acreage, year of planting, and variety of crops.

Danielson stated that of the 16 men conducting the survey, 14 men have been hired locally.

MANY FARMERS and farm organizations, as well as related industries, use the information after compilation of the total figures.

Besides being able to provide farmers with statistics they need in working out their planting and marketing programs, the acreage totals of all fruit, nut and vine crops are needed for compiling our department's annual agricultural crop report," said Danielson.

Fair Maid To Be Chosen At State Fair Tomorrow

Contestants in the 1963 Maid of California competition, rode in sport convertibles provided by Sacramento automobile dealers on the way to preliminary judging in the contest at the Fairgrounds yesterday.

PRELIMINARY judging will eliminate all but 11 of the contestants, all of whom represent their home counties.

The titlist remains in Sacramento to preside over the remainder of the fair.

Prize money totaling $11,200 will be awarded winning cowboys who can manage to ride their bulls and horses eight seconds or rope and bulldog their steers in record time.

HIGHLIGHT of the 4-H and FFA show was the annual Junior Fat Stock Sale held yesterday.

BANDS GIVING concerts for the last three days were Pleasant Hill, Ygnacio Valley, Clayton Valley and Mt. Diablo.

Hour-long concerts were offered giving a wide range of musical selections including popular tunes, marches and some classical pieces.

Operating with a fleet of late model cars, Hollywood stunt drivers will crash, bash and demolish their autos in 20 exciting and death-defying stunts to begin Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

World-champion stunt driver Don Chadwick will lead the team of madcap mayhem makers as they execute every stunt possible in the way of daredevil driving.

'Y' Names 2 Men As Directors

Because of resignations, two new members have been added to the board of directors of the Mount Diablo YMCA.

Named to the board were Rev. Norman Head, pastor of First Congregational Church in Antioch, and Ben Goldberger, Pittsburg.

They replace Rev. Bruce Jones, pastor of the First Christian Church in Concord, and Rev. Herbert Hirschfield, pastor of the San Ramon Methodist Church.

REV. JONES has accepted an appointment to the staff of Union Seminary, Buenos Aires, Argentina, while Rev. Hirschfield has accepted a call to begin a new church in the Sacramento area.

The first fall meeting of the board will be held September 12 in the social hall of the Walnut Creek Methodist Church.

New Board Member Rev. Head has been pastor of the Antioch church five years. Married, he has four children. He is a member of Rotary and Toastmasters and is chairman of the social action committee of the Antioch Ministers Association.

Rev. Head served the Berkeley YMCA while studying at the Pacific School of Religion.

Goldberger, president of Lee Jewelers, is married and has two children. He is president of the Contra Costa Council of Community Services, vice president of the Contra Costa United Fund, treasurer of the Contra Costa Taxpayers Committee, honorary member of the Fed-American Association and Community Service Organization, member-at-large of the Diablo Chapter of Red Cross and nominating committee to the Consolidated Girl Scouts Council.

Special upcoming efforts of the board include a building drive program and extension of services to the river area.

GASOLINE

A single tankship of gasoline, reports the National Automobile Club, would run your car for 500 years.

County Honors Employees For Loyal Service

In ceremonies before the board of supervisors Tuesday 10 county employees received awards for service totaling 125 years with the county.

The program, held in the board of supervisors' chambers, honored the following employees:

Fifth Wheelers Newest Of Single's Clubs

It will continue to meet at this location, Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m. until further notice.

Arrangements are being made to make this group a co-operative affiliate.

According to Fred E. Stockbridge of Concord, the principal aim of the new organization is to bring people together "to do things they have always wanted to do, but hesitated to do them alone."

Over 60 Courses Offered Now In Adult Education

More than 60 courses covering a wide range of interests are being offered for the fall quarter of the Acalanes Union High School District's Adult Education Division.

Registration for adult classes is being held for the next two weeks between 6:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. daily, except Friday at the Adult Center, Acalanes High in Lafayette, and at Las Lomas High in Walnut Creek.

Registration may also be completed during the first two meetings at any of the classes offered.

Included among the courses listed for the fall quarter which runs from Sept. 10 to Dec. 6, are a "Survey of Physical Sciences," Monday evenings at Acalanes High.

The course examines chemistry, physics, and geology.

Several classes in communications skills will cover basic English and spelling, English review, reading speed an improvement, and public speaking.

The public speaking class will meet Wednesday nights at Acalanes.

Sewing courses this fall include "Custom Dressmaking" on Wednesday or Thursday mornings, 9:30 to noon, Grace Presbyterian Church, Tice Valley Blvd., Walnut Creek.

Business education offerings this quarter include classes in "Business Letter Writing," Thursday evenings, Las Lomas High; and "Office Machines," Monday evenings, Las Lomas.

THE ACALANES Adult Program this quarter features subjects in the academic fields, ranging from mathematics to foreign languages; citizenship preparation; crafts and fine arts; homemaking, homemaking arts; music; physical education; and driver education, driver improvement, and small boat handling instruction.

Adults who wish to complete requirements for high school graduation may do so through the adult education program.

Information on the Acalanes District Adult Division offerings may be secured by telephoning 935-0170.

Suburbia Today Will Tell About The New Settlers

Not since the gold rush has there been a bigger attraction for new settlers than the suburbs, where the population leaped 10 million between 1950 and 1960.

But what happens to these newcomers in a strange land? How are they accepted by the old settlers?

See this month's Round Table —"Old Settlers and New People— How Do They Mix"—edited by George Feilding Eliot for the September issue of Suburbia Today coming with The Sun next Friday.

FOR WOMEN who sew and for those who have so far been timid about trying to, the fashion editor of Suburbia Today presents "New Cloth, New Clothes" in photographs and sketches. There are swatches of the new bright plaids, snappy tweeds, bold houndstooth checks, etched brocades, and puffy matelasses, and with them are shown patterns for well-cut easy-to-sew new clothes—coats and skirts and all day jumpers, and the glamorous long evening dress of this autumn.

In "Split-Level Child," poet and artist, Rosalind Welcher, takes you into the secret world of the junior members of suburbia through her verses and sketches "after-nature."

When fall comes and food is hot and hearty again, why not serve your guests "An Informal Supper in the Italian Tradition," assembled by the food editor of Suburbia Today, Melanie De Proft. Start off with Zucchini Vinaigrette, followed by Chicken Cacciatore with a platter of Artichokes Florentine, and then surprise them with Biscuit Tortoni (delicious — and not at all complicated to produce with your own hand) and Italian Butter Cookies.

"SOLVE YOUR Space Problem"—For the vast majority of people who have a lack of storage space in their home, Suburbia Today has picked four designs (a wall-to-wall bookcase, a garden tool shed, an all-purpose storage unit, and a hobby cabinet) which the head of the house can order and make in his spare time at home.

All of these interesting and informative articles have been chosen for your select reading in Suburbia Today.

Mowers Can Be Dangerous

Your power mower may look harmless, but it is probably the most dangerous piece of machinery you have around your house. If you turned a rotary mower over while it was operating (but don't; just take our word for it) you would see the blur of a blade whirling some 4000 revolutions a minute.

The sharp blade neatly clips grass, but it just as readily slices other things that get in its way, such as leather shoes, toes and fingers. If the blade strikes a hard object, such as a stone, it can hurl it like a bullet with enough force to kill someone in its path.

Some recent cases reported by the National Safety Council reveal:

A woman in Ohio lost most of three fingers on her right hand when she tried to free a piece of sod from blades without stopping the mower.

In Iowa, a teenager's legs and thighs were badly mangled when a mower slipped down on top of him while he was mowing a steep bank.

An 8-year-old boy in Michigan was struck in the chest by a sliver of glass, hurled when a mower ran over a soft drink bottle; he died before reaching the hospital.

County Seeks Health Educator

Contra Costa County has an immediate opening for a health educator.

The person selected will have the opportunity to learn the functions of a highly respected health department while helping solve local health problems.

The salary range is $585-$710.

Final date for filing is September 27, 1963.

Persons interested in establishing a career in health education are urged to phone 228-3000, ext 415, or call at the Civil Service Commission, room 229, Hall of Records, Martinez, California.

Crusade Names Mrs. John Kelly To County Post

MRS. JOHN G. KELLY

Mrs. John G. Kelly, who has been recognized by local, Bay Area and California organizations as an outstanding volunteer leader, takes over the No. 1 United Crusade women's post in Central Contra Costa for the 1963 campaign.

Mrs. Kelly of 181 Elena Drive, Walnut Creek, was named chairman of residential crusaders in all central communities — from Martinez through Danville - Alamo—by county chairman Mrs. David W. Calfee of Richmond.

The residential campaigners will be on the streets October 15 to collect $37,442 in central communities for 180 private health, welfare, youth and planning organizations supported by the united fund.

In anticipation of the annual citizen effort, the new chairman will appoint volunteer directors in Concord, Martinez, Orinda-Moraga, Lafayette, Walnut Creek, Danville - Alamo and Pleasant Hill, beginning next week.

A crusade worker since formation of the five-county United Bay Area Crusade in 1955, Mrs. Kelly last fall led the Pleasant Hill residential crusaders to a UBAC record of 279 per cent of the assigned goal.

Named in June as "Volunteer of the Year" by Oakland Junior League, the central chairman is regional vice-president of the Califronia Association for Health and Welfare; is a board member and 1963 annual meeting chairman of the five-county Bay Area Welfare Planning Federation, and is a director of Contra Costa County Council of Community Services.

Among other community organizations in which Mrs. Kelly is active are crusade-supported Girl Scouts and Oakland YWCA, the Oakland Junior League, California League of Nursing, and Hillcrest Congregational Church in Pleasant Hill.

Wife of John G. Kelly, dean of instruction of Diablo Valley College, the crusade chairman has three children: Bob, 11; Cathy, 10, and Mary Dee, 3.

Unexpected Realism Seen By CG During Training

Officers and men of Alameda Operational Port Security Unit No. II, U.S. Coast Guard Base, Alameda, last week encountered unexpected realism during the unit's semi-annual mobilization exercise.

The two-day exercise, which culminated six months of weekend drills, had been broken down into two operations.

The first operation, Harbor Patrol, conducted with the cooperation of the Captain of the Port, employed two 40-foot patrol boats to cover San Francisco Bay and neighboring waterways.

The second phase of the Operational Exercise was the defense of a position under "atomic, biological and chemical attack" by an aggressor at Kirby Beach, north of the Golden Gate Bridge.

IT WAS DURING the first operation that unexpected realism was added by actual emergency calls.

The crew of one patrol boat was called upon to assist in the search for two persons reported to have fallen overboard from a pleasure craft.

The crew was also called to tow a disabled sailboat, give assistance to another, and search for a tug reported to have run aground near Richmond.

At the same time, the other Reserve 40-footer was kept busy with drills that included pier patrol, aid to navigation maintenance, compiling shipping lists and boarding procedure.

The officers and men received a "Well-Done" from their commanding officer, Lieutenant Commander R. L. Adams of Hayward, upon completion of the unit's semi-annual mobilization exercise.

THE DEFENDERS in the second phase of the Operational Exercise were Damage Control personnel who made use of their Atomic, Biological and Chemical (ABC) detection and decontamination instruction and knowledge.

Education Board OK's Inter-District Guide

In an effort to solve a perennial problem, Contra Costa County Board of Education has approved guidelines to be followed when parents wish to transfer their children to schools in districts other than the district of residence.

The board is an appeal body for inter-district transfer cases board adopted at its meeting days at the local level or which are denied at the local level.

The California Education Code requires that the child attend school in the district in which he resides or, to go elsewhere, obtain permission from both the district of residence and the district of attendance.

One of the blocks to inter-district transfer is the reluctance of impoverished school districts to grant transfers into districts having higher costs per capita, since the student's home district must pay the cost of his education in the district of attendance.

In the guidelines the county board adopted at its meeting in Pleasant Hill last week, the parent is directed to:

(1) Communicate his transfer request to the superintendents of both the district of residence and the district of proposed attendance;

(2) If refused by either or both, and an appeal is desired, address a communication to the Contra Costa County Board of Education through County Superintendent Floyd Marchus, 75 Santa Barbara Road, Pleasant Hill.

The letter should "state all the facts in the case and include . . . reasons for requesting a transfer."

Both the letter from the parent and a letter from the superintendent of the district which denied the request, so stating, will be considered at a hearing to be conducted by the county board.

The board will notify parents and representatives of the school districts of the date of the hearing and the decision resulting from it.

California Has Most Drivers

California has a lot of drivers, in case you hadn't noticed.

At the beginning of this year, 9,677,965 persons were licensed to drive in California, reports the California State Automobile Association.

New York was next with 7,266,977 drivers and Pennsylvania third with 5,815,943, according to estimates by the Bureau of Public Roads.

Illinois, Michigan and Texas each had over 4 million licensed drivers.

Not only does California have the most drivers, they are increasing at a more rapid rate than in any other state.

California had over 500,000 more drivers as of January 1, 1963, an increase of 5½ per cent from the previous year.

For the entire nation there were 92 million licensed drivers at the beginning of this year, an increase of 3.5 per cent over the 88.9 million registered the previous year.

2 Persons Get Free Wardrobes

More than 1,000 prizes including the two wardrobes were given away last Friday and Saturday.

SPEAKING OF MILK

Fishing Festival To Be Highlight Of Sports Show

The world's first International Festival of Fishing will be held within the 20th annual San Francisco National Sports & Boat Show at the Cow Palace January 31-February 9, 1964.

"Never before in the long history of sports expositions will so much fishing tackle and articles pertaining to fishing be brought together for the sportsmen's enjoyment," stated Thomas R. Rooney, the show's manager.

"There will be so much to see and so much to thrill the fisherman that this can be termed the sportopia of fishing," declares Rooney. In previous years the San Francisco show has presented a Hall of Sports Fashions and a Hall of Physical Fitness. "This year's Festival of Fishing will top anything ever presented to fishermen in a sports exposition," adds Rooney.

Dogs Too, Go Back To School

A special 12-week obedience course for dogs was offered by the Contra Costa County Kennel Club yesterday at the Concord Armory.

Classes are held each Thursday at 7:45 p.m. for beginners and advance beginners under the direction of Margaret Downing, licensed American Kennel Club obedience judge.

The Contra Costa County Kennel Club also conducts a training class in conformation work at the same time as the obedience classes in another part of the armory for those interested in showing purebred dogs at all-breed shows.

Persons interested in the obedience training, either beginners or advance, are requested to register in advance by calling either 682-0101 or 682-7762 in Concord.

RUSSIAN BUTTER

Vets Ask Questions

Q. Am I automatically eligible for non - service - connected disability pension because I have become 65 years old?

A. The VA non - service - connected disability pension is not based on age but on the fact that the veteran has become totally and permanently disabled. However, your age may be a contributing factor. Since each case is decided individually, you should consult your nearest VA office.

Q. How can I get the medal the government gave to all World War II personnel at the end of the war?

A. Write to the branch of the service with which you served and give your dates of service as well as your identifying service number.

Q. My claim for death pension for our children was denied in 1959 because their father had no service - connected disability. Should I reapply?

A. Yes, reapply immediately. On July 1, 1960, the requirement was eliminated that a World War II or Korean veteran must have a service connected disability at the time of death.

Dr. Baron Is Promoted

Dr. Baron was formerly director of basic and general engineering at Shell Development Company's Emeryville research center.

Dr. Baron received his B.S. and Ph.D degrees in chemical engineering from the University of Illinois in 1943 and 1948. He joined Shell Development as an engineer in 1951. After holding positions of increasing responsibilities, he was appointed basic and general engineering director in 1961.

FOR HIS contributions to the profession, Dr. Baron has received the Allen P. Colburn (formerly Junior) Award and the Professional Progress Award of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, recognized as the highest awards a chemical engineer can achieve.

He has served the institute as a member of the program, chemical engineering projects, and executive committees of the Northern California section, and the awards committee and dynamic objectives committee of the National AIChE.

He is a member of the advisory committee of the mathematics department of Alameda State College and of the advisory board of the Process and Design Quarterly, published by the American Chemical Society's Industrial and Engineering Chemistry.

Scholastic ability and achievement of more thana 700,000 public school students were measured last fall when California initiated the nation's only mandatory statewide testing program.

'Guides' Slate Family Event

Sponsored by the Mt. Diablo YMCA Y Indian Guides, the Ninth Annual Northern California Y Indian Guide family powwow and workshop will be held November 9 at Diablo Valley College, Concord.

An all-day family registration will be $1.50 per family. Each little brave will receive a patch and each tribe will be presented a certificate.

There will be displays from tribes from all over Northern California, tours of the college planetarium and museum for boys and girls, speakers for the adults and workshops.

Those wishing further information have been asked to call 934-9070.

Saint Mary's College To Hold Centennial Mass

The major religious event of the Saint Mary's College Centennial celebration will be a Mass of Thanksgiving, Sept. 26, to ask God's blessings for the next 100 years.

The ceremony will be held at the Moraga campus.

Father Walsh will speak on an aspect of the Saint Mary's centennial theme, "The Liberal Arts Language of Free Men—Its Spiritual Implications."

Forming in academic procession with the faculty, regents and trustees of the college will be the Knights of St. Gregory, Knights of Malta, Knights of St. Peter Claver and fourth degree Knights of Columbus.

Other special guests at the mass will be Diocesan Councils of Catholic Men and Women, public and private school superintendents, high school principals and college and university presidents of the Bay Area.

THE MASS will be held outdoors in the academic quadrangle in front of the chapel.

School Leaders Named In Drive

County School Superintendent Dr. Floyd I. Marchus has named three district superintendents to area leadership in the 1963 United Bay Area Crusade campaign.

Assisting Dr. Marchus in fund-raising organizations of Crusade's education division in Contra Costa will be:

East Area—Homer A. Alderman, superintendent of Brentwood Union School District.

One of the top money-raising sections in the county, the Education Division covers united fund contributions among the 10,000 teachers, administrators and non-certificated school personnel throughout the county.

The annual UBAC campaign will be conducted in October, aiming for $1,407,000 support for private health, welfare, youth and planning organizations in the five bay counties of Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, San Francisco and San Mateo.

Social Worker Receives Child Welfare Stipend

Mrs. Anne B. Anderson, 721 Via Hermosa, Danville, was one of 164 to be awarded educational stipends for social workers in California by the State Department of Social Welfare for the coming 1963-64 school year.

She was one of 107 persons receiving child welfare stipends.

Scouters Learn Of New Changes In New Course

Among other subjects, new changes in Boy Scout advancement requirements will be explained at the "Advanced Baden-Powell Course" for troop leaders, with orientation session, Sept. 16, 7:30 p.m., Diablo Valley College, and a full weekend, Sept. 20-22 at Camp Herms, 1290 Boy Scout Road, El Cerrito.

Invited to participate are men who have taken part in a basic outdoor training course, where the "how" of Scouting skills was taught.

Why?" will be the theme of the advanced course, according to W. D. Thomas of Concord who heads the staff of more than a dozen wood badge-trained instructors.

"Wood Badge" is an eight-day training experience for Scoutmasters patterned on the original course given for leaders of Boy Scouts in England more than half a century ago.

Subject matter skills, and the reasons for teaching them, include "cooking fires," "compass and orientation," "patrol leaders' council," knots and pioneering, nature and conservation, planning the outdoor program, troop committee meetings, first aid, signalling, and "the older boy in the troop."

Refresher Course At DV College

It will meet on Wednesdays and Thursdays, 9-3:30, for 10 weeks, beginning Sept. 11, at the college.

Half of the instruction will be given inn a local hospital and half in the classroom.

THE COURSE, sponsored by Diablo Valley College, Concord Community Hospital, the county hospital at Martinez, Kaiser Hospital in Walnut Creek, the Contra Costa County Heart Association, and the California League for Nursing was offered for the first time in Northern California at Diablo Valley College in 1960 on an experimental basis.

On the basis of the initial success of the course, four additional programs were presented.

Of the 100 students who have completed the five courses, the large majority are now actively engaged in nursing.

The course has helped to relieve the nursing shortage in East Contra Costa County, according to John G. Kelly, dean of instruction.

The instructor will continue to be Mrs. Carol J. Gleit, who received her r.n. degree from the University of Wisconsin, bachelor's degree from Boston University, and master's degree in nursing education from the University of Pittsburgh.

MRS. GLEIT has taught in nursing schools in Boston and Pittsburgh.

Acalanes District Has Busy Pre-School Week

The Acalanes High School District, in preparing for the opening of school Tuesday, have had a busy week holding orientation conferences, indoctrinating new teachers and making plans for the fall semester.

A GENERAL meeting of all teaching personnel was held Wednesday followed by faculty activities at each of the high schools.

Departmental activities and conferences were held yesterday and are continuing today.

FORTY-NINE NEW teachers will join the Acalanes District staff this year; 29 as replacements for instructors who have resigned or are on leave, 20 as additions to the staff to meet the rise in secondary school enrollment.

New teachers in the Acalanes Union High School District this year include:

CAMPOLINDO — Mrs. Jean Reeder, English and history; Leroy Thompson, history and English; Miss Elizabeth Penn, girls' physical education; George Castellani, science; Rod O'Meara, history and boys' physical education; Gary Cook, mathematics; Mrs. Lois Brough, nurse; Miss Charlotte White, English; David Sullivan, chemistry; Edward Hewitson, German and Spanish; Miss Lola Danielle, Spanish and Latin.

DEL VALLE—Roger Falge English; James Wilhelm, mathematics; Jack Sturgeon, history; Mrs. Judith Gough, English and journalism; John Ellison, biology and mathematics; Miss Gail Gray, girls' physical education; Mrs. Mary Mahler, special education; Frank Stott, social studies; Miss Joyce Petke, English; and Ronald Blakeman, mechanical drawing.

LAS LOMAS—Paul Weidoff, Spanish and French; Barry Smith, business; Mrs. Terry Wilson, English; Salvatore Marino, French and Spanish; Mrs. Margaret Smith, mathematics; Miss Ann Hanlon, chemistry; James Webster, science; Mrs. Grace Adams, mathematics; Orville Thisius, boys' physical education and social studies; and Miss Emily Kartes, business.

MIRAMONTE—Miss Renelde Demeure, Spanish and French; Ira Homer, French and German; Mrs. Bernice Rosso, English and journalism; Tom Blackwood, social studies and boys' physical education; Haldor Berg, mathematics; John Kell, industrial arts; Mrs. Tobey Wiebe, French; Miss Carol Erends, Girls' physical education; Mrs. Margaret Wallace, English; Roger Durant, boys' physical education; John Sargis, history and art; and James Clark, biology.

Home Canning, Freezing Popular

Judging from the requests received in our office daily, there is a renewed interest in canning, freezing, pickling and jelly making. Perhaps home canning is reaching a "fad" stage—and some fads are good.

When you do all the work of preserving your good fruits and vegetables, you don't want them to spoil. So use proper methods—that is, follow the instructions to the letter!

USE BOILING water method for processing fruits, tomatoes, and other acid foods, because a boiling-water bath supplies enough heat to destroy the organisms which cause spoilage in acid foods without overcooking the food.

Use steam pressure method for processing beans, beets, carrots, corn, peas, and all other low-acid foods, because a steam pressure canner or cooker (they are the same) is the only kitchen utensil which supplies enough heat to kill, within a reasonable time, the spores of bacteria which cause flat sour, botulism, and other types of spoilage of low-acid foods.

To help with your food preservation, the following bulletins are free upon request: Home Canning of Fruits; Home Canning of Vegetables; Making Jellies and Jams; Pickles, Relishes, and Chutneys; Bottling, Canning, Freezing Fruit Juices and Tomato Juices.

YOLO COUNTY

Yolo County in the fertile Sacramento Valley was named after the Yolo Indians who formerly lived in the region, the California State Automobile Association reports.

DRAPE FIRST—If new draperies are on your list, you'll find it easier to select the window fabric first; then select paint for the wall to harmonize with the fabric.

CSO's Will Help Vets In Survey

The Contra Costa County Veterans Service Office is prepared to assist certain veterans or parents of deceased veterans with income questionnaires received with monthly Veterans Administration checks.

County Service Officer Wm. R. Smaker said his office was prepared to help veterans who received additional service-connected disability compensation because of a dependent parent or parents, or dependent parents of deceased veterans receiving service-connected death compensation payments.

Smaker points out that at the time the parents were placed on the compensation rolls, they were definitely determined to be dependent.

The purpose of the questionnaire is to establish the fact that they have continued to be dependent and are still eligible for payment.

Help in filling out the questionnaire can be had by calling at either of the Contra Costa County Veterans Service Offices, 100-37th Street, Richmond or Veterans Memorial Hall in Martinez.

Free Home Advice Given by County

Free bulletins about your home are available on: Food and Your Weight; Food Fads; Home Canning of Fruits; Home Canning of Vegetables; Home Freezing of Fruits and Vegetables; Making Jams, Jellies and Preserves; Making Pickles, Relishes and Chitneys.

These are free publications and the directions should be followed. Write to: Home Advisor, P.O. Box 390, Pittsburg.

Hot Month Ahead For the Garden

Every year at state fair time, the weather seems to make a last ditch summer stand before starting to cool off. We don't know that the same will hold true every September, but we do know that this is no month to stop watering the garden in anticipation of cooler, possibly wetter weather. Not until you actually see and feel, the change, anyway.

Garden CHECK-LIST

PREPARED BY THE CALIFORNIA ASSOCIATION OF NURSERYMEN

1. Dahlias should be watered regularly and deeply. Be sure to stake tall plants to keep them from toppling under the weight of their blooms.

2. Well-fed fuchsias will continue blooming into fall. Use an acid-type food or fish fertilizer.

3. Many of your favorite perennials can be sown in flats this month. Check the seed rack at your local C.A.N. nursery.

5. Plant Sweet Peas before the end of the month if you want blooms by Christmas.

Color fads may come and go, but you will be happier with a well-thought-out color plan for your home.

The colors you use in your home should suit the family. Look at the colors you have in your room. You may have rugs and furniture which you cannot change. These then become the starting point for your planning.

If you like your color plan then it's easier to make the addition of new draperies, sofa or paint for the walls

Plants do not like being sprayed during the heat of the day. Choose a windless time in early morning or late afternoon to spray this month.

Fine mist sprinklers are best for camellias, begonias, azaleas, fuchsias and other shade-loving plants. You find them in nurseries.

When you've watered a garden bed, dig down several inches to make sure the water penetrated as deeply as you thought it did.

Use weed killer to remove lawn weeds easily and completely. Be sure to read the directions!

Dirt Cheap Diet

A reader writes: "A friend told me that she had heard it sometimes helps to eat dirt.

She says animals instinctively do it when they are sick and so it must be natural, and good for you."

Dr. Harold N. Schwinger writes:

"Geophagia" is the scientific name for the practice of dirt-eating. It is sometimes found in rural areas, and the habit is not unusual in primitive countries, where pregnant women occasionally eat dirt, or clay.

Men eat it less frequently.

The causes for dirt-eating are not known, although it is suggested that superstition, or "old wives tales," may have much to do with the unusual practice.

Emotional problems and disturbances may also contribute to geophagia, as patients are frequently reluctant to admit what they have been eating, and why.

Two radiologists in Texas have issued a warning report that the odd diet is prevalent in some areas there.

Having been alerted, radiologists in such areas can avoid confusion of the "dirt" with an organic trouble spot.

The eating of reasonably small amounts of dirt probably is not injurious to humans, or as any mother knows, we would have a greater amount of illness evident in small children. However, modern diets and civilized medicine can provide many more pleasant and satifying results than dirt-eating, when you are ill.

WORLD CATTLE NUMBERS UP

In 1963, world cattle numbers jumped to 1.1 billion, 19 million more than last year, said Economic Research Service. India has the largest cattle and buffalo population with 235 million. U.S. is second with 103.8 million; the USSR third with 86.8 million; and Communist China is fourth.

Overfeeding Can Rob Chrysanthemum

Repeatedly we hear that chrysanthemums should be fed until the buds start to show color, after which food should be withheld. Why is this?

According to the California Association of Nurserymen, too much food at this point will rob the plant of its brilliance. Overfed chrysthemums, like some other members of the plant world, seem to produce blooms that are slightly washed out in color.

Go-Glow-Grow Foods Needed

We need them all each day.

"Go Foods" are energy foods. We need these to keep us running. These foods are inexpensive and most people get these in their diets. Common examples include bread, cereals, butter and margarine.

"Glow Foods" are fruits and vegetables. These foods act as oil does in running an engine. They serve as a catalyst to the foods in the "Go" and "Grow" groups.

"Grow Foods" are the ones we know as protein-vegetable or animal. Examples are meat, fish, milk, beans and peas. These are the muscle builders, especially important for growing children.

Calendulas Give Best Late Color

If you plant them now in a sunny spot, they will give you color right through the winter months, and bright color it is. Members of the California Association of Nurserymen offer them in flats for planting in September and October, the earlier the better.

SCHOOL POPULATION

Public school enrollment in California is expected to reach 5.5 million in 1970—an increase of more than one million over today's enrollment.

LAZY-MAN'S WATER SYSTEM—Betty Fowler is shown completing installation of an automatic control for watering gardens. She is secretary to the president of the local firm which manufactures absentee automatic water control systems. For five years she has been writing letters and talking to customers about how easy it is to install the automatic system. She was certain that she could install one herself, unaided, if only given a chance. She has had her chance; and proved her point.

Therapy Center Fund Drive Set

More than 3000 workers are preparing to call upon residents in the area served by the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center in Pleasant Hill.

"Operation Growth" has continued to attract public-spirited residents of Central and East Contra Costa County to its public appeal for funds.

The advance gifts phase is under way with the kick-off scheduled August 26. "Operation Growth" residential day will be September 8 when house-to-house calls are made.

MRS. ROBERT C. Anthonisen of 37 Orchard Road, Orinda, is chairman of the special gifts division for the area. A. Hayden Bridwell, 13 Kittiwake Road, Orinda, heads up the business division.

Albert D. Salerno, Walnut Creek chairman, has nemed William Martin of 1401 Mt. Diablo Boulevard, and Bennie Martinez of 2570 Cherry Lane, Walnut Creek, as business division co-chairmen.

Business division chairman for Danville-Alamo is Charles Lowell, 520 San Ramon Valley Boulevard, Danville.

WORKER'S ORIENTATION meetings for all divisions are being held, as are tours of the center, to acquaint workers with services and facilities.

The center is a community inspired and supported institution, staffed by skilled professional people whose work with the handicapped of the area has brought new hope and new life to hundreds of afflicted.

Late Look At Garden

By late summer many gardens have that down-at-the-heels look about them. And it would be a surprise if they didn't, for the combination of excessive heat and vacation neglect is enough to discourage the stoutest of plants.

When a late summer look at your garden shows this need of repair, don't be discouraged, for some minor surgery will soon make the patient well. Water, food, and weeding plus a few flats full of quick-blooming annuals will really do wonders.

TIDYING UP is the first order of business for post-vacationers. Cut the lawn and trim it, then give it a meal of well-balanced lawn fertilizer and a thorough soaking. Within a week, it will begin to look like new again. Quite often, the treatment will be much more effective if you use a coring tool to break up compacted soil and open the ground to water and food. Any local member of the California Association of Nurserymen can show you such a tool.

Annuals that have either stopped blooming or very nearly so, should also be uprooted to eliminate another ragged edge and to make way for new beding plants. Some of them, such as petunias and violas will give further bloom if you cut them back, but most should be taken out completely when they have started to decline. You can replace them with annuals which will give you bloom in the early weeks of fall.

WEEDS, TOO, are apt to need some tending to this time of year. It's surprising the number of weeds that can push themselves into a flower bed while you are off enjoying yourself in the mountains or at the beach. Wait until after watering the garden thoroughly before you try pulling them, however, and the job will be that much easier.

When weeds and faded annuals are out of the way, and when the garden is otherwise spruced up, you can then think of how to inject new life into it. Visit a C.A.N. nursery and peruse the supply of annuals and shrubs which seem ready to bloom or are doing so already. There's a goodly supply of them, thanks be for that.

Among the bedding plants which give your garden a late-summer lift are scarlet sage and celorsia, zinnias, petunias and marigolds. All of these are heat lovers and revel in the above average temperatures which late August and early September usually bring to California. Waste no time in setting these out, for we are fast reaching the point of no returns in so far as further color this year is concerned.

PLANTS OF felicia, and aster frikarti—both of which look like blue marguerites, are also available in bloom right now. You can set them out from gallon cans, or simply sink the nursery cans in the ground wherever you need color. No need to transplant them now if you're pressed for time. Both go well with the yellow marguerites, incidentally, and you should find some of those to set out now, also.

You'll get good September and October bloom from roses, which are still available in containers at C.A.N. nurseries. There's no trick to setting these out in the garden, simply transfer them from the nursery container—usually a five-gallon can—and set them in the planting hole. You can worry about food for them next year, for chances are your nurseryman has fed them enough to last through this fall.

TUBEROUS BEGONIAS are also good bets for the needy garden this month. Nurserymen have pot grown plants in full bloom which may simply be sunk, pot and all into a shaded bed. These you can feed—every two weeks with fish emulsion—and they should give you color well into October, especially the seedlings which start blooming later than second year plants and carry their bloom longer.

The logical plants for quick color this time of year are chrysanthemums. Those of you who forgot to plant them last spring can find consolation in the fact that C.A.N. nurserymen have pots full of them in bloom or ready to bloom: and what more timely way to pick a garden up.

Chrysanthemums are the flowers of fall and will soon be at their blooming best all over the state.

Farm Bureau Holds Annual Member Drive

Contra Costa County Farm Bureau held its annual membership drive Saturday.

Approximately 40 volunteer workers met for a "Kick-off Breakfast" in Concord. Tom Kitayama, president of Alameda County Farm Bureau was the guest speaker.

FOLLOWING THE breakfast, the men went out in teams of two to contact prospective new members.

Sandwiches Are Great Food Fare This Month

For peanut butter sandwiches, add a layer of sliced bananas, or a scattering of crisp bacon crumbles, jam or jelly, a slice of boiled ham or some other cold cut.

Landscaping Lot?

People who landscape a new lot are often unaware how easily it can be done—financially that is.

They stretch the job out over any number of months or years when they could simply have taken out a bank loan and done the job all at once.

Similarly, the gardener who sets out to remodel his garden often takes so long in doing it that the first areas which he remodeled are ready for renewing again by the time he finishes the rest of the job.

THE CALIFORNIA Association of Nurserymen reminds us that any number of lending institutions will make home improvement loans for landscaping purposes.

If you are to receive a "garden improvement" loan, however, you must start with a plan. Just as no homebuilder could hope for a loan with house plans, neither should the gardener expect a loan without landscape plans.

This becomes especially important where any structural work is to be done—a patio, a deck or a lanai—but most lenders want a plan of the garden itself, including a landscaper's estimate as to the cost of planting it.

You can simplify and lessen the cost of professional help, however, by doing the initial work yourself. On a piece of paper, drawn to scale, lay out of the present plot of your lot, showing the position of the house, driveway and garage.

IF YOU HAVE an established garden, show the location of all plant beds and borders, all trees and any existing patio areas. Armed with this, you can then visit a professional landscaper. Your efforts are time and money saved.

And if you are at all knowledgeable in the ways of plants, or if you have a good sense of design, why not make your own plan from start to finish. You'll find various books on the subject of landscaping to help with the basic design problems, and your local C.A.N. nurseryman can give you advice on the planting.

THE WORK AREA. So often this is overlooked by amateur landscapers. Garden enjoyment will be vastly increased if you have space to hide the family wash while it is drying; or a place to keep garbage cans out of sight. The work area can also serve for tool storake and bike parking. Keep it close to the rear entrance of your house.

OUTDOOR LIVING area with easy access to the house. Barbecue and patio areas should not be tucked away in the back corner of a lot, where they become more of a retreat than part of your everyday life. To be effective the outdoor living area should be within an easy tea-cart push of both kitchen and dining room.

PLAY AREA for children. Nothing elaborate is needed here, but mothers who have toddlers will appreciate any plan which gives them a safe place to amuse themselves. An extension of the driveway—simply a paved path will do—to enable them to ride their tricycles farther.

A sawdust pit or sand box and perhaps a jungle gym or a swing. Older children will appreciate a tether ball court or an area to play badminton in—no need to make it regulation size, so long as they can bat the bird back and forth over a net.

Finding the right combination of plans for these various things will take time and thought, and you may end up seeking professional help after all. You will definitely need some advice when it comes to planting.

Your nurseryman can suggest plants for screening, trees for shade, border shrubs and all that. His suggestions aren't going to cost you anything, either, so no worry on that score.

Broiled Fish Is Best This Way

Preheat broiler 10 minutes. Arrange fish on greased broiler rack or aluminum foil. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Brush generously with real mayonnaise. Place two inches from heat and broil six to 10 minutes without turning.

Vegetables Go In Now

This is the season to plant such cool season vegetables as peas, carrots, beets, parsley, radishes, spinach, chard and turnips from seed. A few other vegetables may be found as seedlings already started in C.A.N. nurseries: broccoli, cabbage, many lettuce varieties and cauliflower.

You can also start garlic now, and we suggest you do if you want to discover how wonderfully fresh and aromatic the garden-picked garlic can be.

Scent Sends Joy

However brief in passing, it stimulates pleasant responses—a memory from some forgotten past or a promise of happy times ahead. It's worth striving for in planting your garden.

The matter of fragrance becomes ever more important, too, for in breeding bigger and better blooms on plants, plantsmen often hybridize the scent right out of them.

THE MOST beautiful carnations, for instance, often lack the scent of their spicy, if common, parents a few generations back. And many of the new roses which draw "ohs" and "ahs" for their looks have nothing much in the way of perfume when you sniff them.

The California Association of Nurserymen suggests that we plant a few shrubs and other plants strictly for the scent they impart to their garden surroundings. In working toward such an end you will discover some mighty useful plants along the way worth planting even if they didn't smell so nice.

The orange jessamine is one shrub that deserves more attention. An exceptionally handsome shrub, it is fine of texture with light-green foliage for foundation plantings, for large containers or for an informal hedgerow.

THE FRAGRANCE comes from a late-spring to mid-summer crop of white flowers, these scattering over the remaining weeks of summer to impart a lingering scent. Orange jessamine is available in two sizes—a compact form and a taller, more arborescent form.

The former may be planted in tubs in areas where winter temperatures drop much below 25 degrees. Give either form mostly sun and a rich, well-drained soil with plenty of water during the dry season.

THE NIGHT scented jasmine—not a jasmine at all, but like one in its scent—is an example of a shrub which can be planted for perfume alone. The bloom is strictly nothing to write home about on this one. At night, however, especially on warm summer nights, they are intensely fragrant and will fill the garden with pungent perfume.

Here is a scent that can be almost overpowering when planted right outside a bedroom window, but taken in moderation, as from an upwind corner of the garden, it can make the summer night complete.

One shrub we plant both for bloom and perfume is the gardenia, for it excels in both.

In the garden border, or in a sunroom pot, they are both fun to grow and a joy to sniff when picked for corsages or for dish arrangements.

THREE OR FOUR blooms in shallow vase will fill the house with their scent and when grown in a patio area, they make outdoor living a downright pleasure.

Two gardenia forms are usually grown in California — the Mystery Gardenia, which has the the larger blooms, and the Veitchi Gardenia, which covers itself in summer with smaller, but nonetheless fragrant white flowers.

We can't talk about garden scents without mentioning that common old favorite, the honeysuckle Hall's Japanese Honeysuckle, especially, is a familiar friend from the past and it still produces a greater abundance of bloom and scent than other members of the family.

YOU CAN LET it ramble over a fence or up onto a trellis. Left to sprawl, it makes a fine ground cover, and if given the support of a few wires, it will bulk up to make a barrier or hedge. Prune it in winter, when the leaves drop to make it conform as you would have it and keep it young and vigorous.

We can't begin to mention all possibilities for fagrance in the garden. You'd have to include many cut flowers such as stock and bulbs such as freesias, trees such as those in the citrus family and perennials such as border pinks or fragrant violets.

There is plenty of perfume to be found in C.A.N. nurseries when you start to look for it.

Horse Show Lists Winners

Winners in 17 classes and events making up the Fifth Annual Horse Show, Rodeo and Gymkhana of the Moraga Horsemen's Association were announced recently by Mrs. Henry W. Boeger, show secretary.

Drawing one of the largest lists of entries in the history of the event, more than 150 riders from northern California competed for trophies and ribbons in horsemanship, conformation, riding and roping events.

in Area winners were:

Drivers Warned As School Nears

Schools will soon reopen and a traditional warning to motorists has been sounded by Dr. Hendrik L. Blum, County Health Officer.

"Motorists are required to stop from either direction when the two top red lights on the school bus are blinking on and off. These red lights are on both the front and cak of the bus. When these lights are not flashing, motorists should slow down and proceed with caution," Dr. Blum warned.

FEDERAL AID

California school districts received more than $2.6 million in Federal funds during the 1962-63 school year to bolster science, mathematics and modern foreign language programs.

Thawed Food Spoil Faster?

Opinions vary on this question. But when research reports are studied there doesn't seem to be much difference in the rate of spoilage of thawed frozen foods and foods that have not been frozen.

Paul Elliott and Robert Straka, bacteriologists in the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Utilization Research Laboratory in Albany, recently surveyed past researches on this subject and conducted their own tests on whole and minced chicken.

THEIR SURVEY, which included studies on meats and fish as well as poultry, indicated most researchers found freezing and thawing had no significant effect on the rate of spoilage in the thawed stage.

Their own research, bacteria counts and odor further showed that shelf life at chill temperature was about the same for fresh and frozen-thawed chicken.

These studies should assure retailers that thawing poultry for retail sale is satisfactory if conducted with proper attention to chilling temperature and cleanliness. They should also assure homemakers that holding thawed foods in a refrigerator involves no more hazard than holding comparable foods that have not been frozen.

Both deteriorate at about the same rate.

'Oklahoma!' Is In Rehearsal By Theatre

This Rodgers and Hammerstein favorite will open on October 4 at Ygnacio Valley High School Auditorium in Concord. It may be seen again on October 5, 11 and 12.

SPONSORED shows will be given at Ygnacio Valley High School on October 9; Antioch Senior High School on October 19, and Martinez Junior High School on October 26.

Roses Want Care Now

Roses at Christmas—the old dream—depend largely on the care you give them in September. If you maintain the same schedule of spraying, watering and feeding which you've followed through summer (provided you have been diligent in this respect) the California Association of Nurserymen says your chances for late fall bloom are good.

Flowers should be picked as they start to fade and not allowered to form seed pods. Once a plant forms seed, it feels its work is over for the year and will taper off.

Special Care Authorized For 'Old' Vets

The President has authorized the Veterans Administration to activate and operate facilities and beds to care for 2000 nursing home-type veteran patients.

The authorization was reported today by John S. Gleason Jr., Administrator of Veterans Affairs, who said the 2000 nursing home beds would be operated in addition to the 125,000 hospital beds now authorized with the VA medical system.

THE PRESIDENTIAL action, Gleason said, will greatly help in relieving the adverse impact on VA's acute medical programs by the influx of older veterans who now comprise one-third of all VA Hospital admissions, and who generally require long-term care.

The changing characteristics of our veteran population, particularly those who served during the First World War, are resulting in an adverse effect on the acute medical programs administered by the Veterans Administration.

Nearly 1,000,000 war veterans are aged 70 and over; the number will increase 50 per cent by 1966.

OLDER VETERANS account for one-third of VA Hospital admissions and they comprise the bulk of the long-term care patient load.

Many have attained maximum benefits of hospitalization but attempts at community placements have been unsuccessful because of the lack of facilities, inadequate financial resources, absence of family ties, and other reasons.

Retention of these patients in facilities designed for acute care is costly and places an undue strain on the 125,000 hospital bed limit under which VA is now operating.

In order to relieve this situation, the administrator authorized hospital directors to activate and operate facilities and beds for 2000 nursing home-type patients in addition to the 125,000 hospital beds presently authorized.

THIS WILL provide arrangements more consistent with patient requirements and improve utilization of acute care facilities.

The higher patient turnover will also defer the need for increasing present bed levels.

Existing buildings best suited for this purpose and appropriately located throughout the country should be utilized.

Schools' TVs Get Tune-Up

"Back to school" has become a matter of tuning up the television set as well as bringing out the textbooks.

Mrs. Gertha Brown, consultant in audio-visual and television education on the staff of the county superintendent, reports that KQED is sending a maintenance engineer to Contra Costa County schools this week and next check UHF (ultra high frequency) receivers in preparation for the instructional television programs the station will resume soon.

Field checks were begun yesterday and will continue today and Wednesday of this week and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

KQED TELECASTS are relayed to areas of Contra Costa County which do not receive from the San Bruno transmitter by a translator on Mt. Diablo. In conformance with Federal Communications Commission regulations, the signal is converted to UHF.

Mrs. Brown expressed the hope that the general public, as well as the county's schools, would avail itself of the telecasts and invited householders wishing information on methods of converting sets to UHF to communicate with her at Contra Costa County Schools, 75 Santa Barbara Road, Pleasant Hill; telephone 228-3000, Pleasant Hill Ext. 232.

An Education Television Committee for Contra Costa County Schools, drawing representation from all school districts, will function again in 1963-64. Oral Lee, curriculum materials consultant for Mt. Diablo Unified School District, was chairman last school year.

ROUGH PAVEMENT

What do you do if your car suddenly hits rough pavement or gravel on a road?

Don't apply the brakes! Sudden braking action may cause your car to fishtail or swerve, possibly into oncoming traffic, The National Safety Council tells us the best thing to do is to concentrate on steering and let up on the accelerator, allowing the engine to slow the care down.

Overweight Is Tough On Pump

These quotes are from Dr. Sheldon Margen, associate professor of human nutrition, University of California, Berkeley: "The purpose of the heart is to act as a pump.

"There are so many blood vessels in the body that we have a relatively complex hydraulic system. Work is good for the heart, but it must have rest.

"When there is increased body mass, there is more work for the heart to do. For every 10 pounds of excess fat tissue, the heart has the added burden of pumping blood through an additional 250 miles of blood vessels for every cardiac cycle."

"Odd-ball" diets may decrease weight, but often at the expense of health. "A calorie is a calorie," if you take more than you use up, you'll gain weight.

Overinflation of your tires does less damage than underinflation, according to the National Automobile Club.

Health Official Gives Advice On Child Care

"It is recommended that every child have this examination before entry into school, and a repeat examination at least once again at entrance into junior high and once more during the first year of high school," Dr. Cobb continued.

THE ANSWER to "why doesn't Johnny do better in school" may be that he has some medical problem.

(1) In most cases your child will receive a clean bill of health, which is always good news.

(2) In others an unsuspected condition may be discovered and taken care of before it becomes serious, thereby avoiding possible suffering, lost time, and needless expense.

CO-OP PRICING POLICY

It is our aim to be as low in price as the lowest. Surveys show we have been successful in this policy.

For week in and week out shopping Co-op prices will be as low as the lowest . . . even before the patronage refund you receive at the end of the year.

Consumer Education Is Essential For Girls

When mother was a girl, she learned how to make cherry pies and a white blouse in her home economics course in high school. Today her daughter learns which brand of frozen cherry pie is best to buy in the supermarket and how to tell a well-made blouse from a poor one in the department store.

Quietly but noticeably a shift of emphasis has taken place in the teaching of home economics in California high schools.

The shift is toward consumer education: The intelligent buying of food, clothing and household furnishings and equipment; how to stay within a budget; importance of planned spending and wise shopping; the use of consumer credit, etc.

REASON FOR THIS change is to be found in a fundamental transformation which has taken place in our society. We heve changed from a producing to a consuming society.

Fifty years ago one-third of the American people lived on farms. They produced their own food and made most of their own clothing. Now only a tiny segment of the people live on farms. We produce little of what we consume. Mostly we buy it.

The housewife who spends unwisely can spend her family into trouble and put an almost intolerable strain on her marriage. Since many girls go right from high school in marriage, and their "home ec" courses may be their only preparation for marriage, the new approach has special significance.

CONSUMER education isn't the be-all and end-all of home economics, however. The courses also include such things as home management, family relationships and child development. A play school may be set up as an adjunct of a high school home economics course so that students may study and work with pre-school age children.

It isn't just the fact of our change from a producing to a consuming society that has altered the direction of home economics instruction. Equally fundamental is the changing role of women generally.

THERE ARE more early marriages, for one thing. There are also more teen-age mothers.

"These two changes in family life," said a home economics supervisor in one of California's large high schools, "make us realize the importance of helping young people think through and establish values which give meaning to personal and family living today."

The teaching of home economics, like other aspects of education, doubtless will continue to change as new conditions produce new needs. Still there will be certain constants. A home economics expert put it in these words:

"Men and women will marry and have children. Atomic scientists will need clothing. Nuclear physicists will eat. Spacemen will return to homes — homes managed by the girls from our schools."

CIRCUITS OVERLOADED?

How can I tell if the electrical circuits in my house are overloaded?

Good signs are a flickering television, slow-heating appliappliances, dim lights and fuses that blow. Wires, forced to supply too many appliances, give a small amount of electricity to each, causing appliances to function improperly Overloaded wiring often becomes hot enough to start a fire. If you notice these danger signs call an electrician to check the wiring, says the National Safety Conucil.

PG&E Awards Contract For Gas Project

Pacific Gas and Electric Company today awarded a contract to Hood Corporation of Whittier for installation of new mains in its gas transmission system—a major part of a project costing more than $6 million.

Twenty-six miles of 36-inch main will be installed in Alameda and Contra Costa counties.

The project will increase transmission capacity for gas service to the entire Bay Area, according to Harold F. Carr, East Bay division manager of PG&E.

It also will result in more flexibility in operation.

MATERIAL, rights-of way and installation will represent an investment of more than $6 million, Carr reported.

Initial work under the installation contract will be on an 18-mile section between PG&E's Irvington Terminal and Livermore Junction.

Then an 8-mile section between the Antioch and Brentwood terminals will be installed.

The installation job will start early in September and is scheduled for completion in about two months.

'Wet' Vs. 'Dry' Not Issue Of Alcohol Council

"The Contra Costa Council on Alcoholism, as an affiliate of the National Council on Alcoholism takes no stand on the 'wet' versus 'dry' issue and is not concerned with the drinking of alcoholic beverages, as such, but is concerned with the disease of alcoholism, its prevention, treatment and rehabilitation," states Dr. Robert R. Pinger, director of the council.

"The council is composed of physicians, lawyers, judges, A.A. people, health department officials, industry, labor, clergymen, teachers, nurses and lay people," says Pinger. "And because alcoholism is a many-faceted disease and because the person afflicted with it will most likely need the understanding guidance of some, or all of these professional services, we feel fortunate indeed in having such fine representatives and their ideas on our board."

The council has a speakers' bureau, composed of council members, which is available to any group interested in this problem and has filled many requests for programs this year to service groups, churches, schools and A.A. groups.

Educational literature is also provided free of charge to any person requesting it.

"We of the council believe that community understanding of the alcoholic as a sick person worth helping is the first step toward rehabilitation of those afflicted with the disease of alcoholism."

For further information you are invited to call the Alcoholism Information Center in Pleasant Hill at 79 Santa Barbara Road, YE 4-3740, between 12 noon and 4 p.m., or the center in Richmond at 3200 Macdonald Ave., BE 2-7525, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Farm Group Opens Season With Luncheon

Contra Costa Farm Bureau women's officers, committee chairmen and unit directors, cooperating with home advisors Mary Ryon Williams and Ann Pleasant, will begin the 1963-64 season, 10 a.m., Friday, Farm Bureau Hall, 5554 Clayton Road, Concord.

Mrs. Lorens Foard, county chairman, will call for committee reports, preview programs for the coming year and present her list of committee chairmen.

Women Too, Should Give Up Smoking

Two of the American Cancer Society's basic educational pamphlets have been completely revised and brought up to date, and are obtainable without charge.

According to Mrs. John H. Selley of Walnut Creek, education chairman for the society's Contra Costa Branch, they are entitled, "Cancer Facts for Women" and "Cancer Facts for Men."

MRS. SELLEY pointed out that an interesting feature of the new pamphlet for women is its advice, "If you don't smoke cigarettes, don't start; if you do smoke cigarettes, stop."

Up to this time, she said, most of the attention given to the cigarette-lung cancer problem has been limited to the smoking risks incurred by men.

The new pamphlet, however, states flatly that women who are heavy smokers are much more likely to develop lung cancer too.

Five other points for women include getting a regular checkup, learning cancer's danger signals, examining breasts regularly, going to a doctor for checkup following childbirth, avoidance of "home remedies" and "secret cures."

FOUR POINTS for men include avoidance of the cigarette smoking habit, getting regular health checkups, learning cancer's seven danger signals, and staying away from quacks.

The pamphlets may be obtained for the asking at American Cancer Society headquarters, 2180 N. California Blvd., in Walnut Creek.

Police Force To Add Man

Assignment of a new police officer for Pleasant Hill beginning next month will permit an additional patrol car for the city when needed, Police Patrol Captain John Kirscher said.

The new officer will be the tenth man provided for in the city's new budget.

Kirscher said that at first the present two-car patrol will be increased to three Friday and Saturday between 6 p.m. and 2 a.m. and from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The addition will also provide close police supervision of the junior school patrol and new bicycle licensing and educational programs

BARTD Gen. Mgr. To Take Over Fiscal Affairs

John M. Peirce has tendered his resignation as general manager of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District and requested that he be assigned to full-time direction of the district's fiscal affairs.

In a letter read to the district's board of directors, Peirce, former California state director of finance, pointed out that the rapid transit program "involves the handling of $1,000,000,000 in capital money, which has many involved ramifications."

THE BOARD accepted Peirce's resignation, which will become effective upon the appointment of a successor and the naming of Peirce to a new position of controller-treasurer-insurance manager at an annual salary of $27,500.

Peirce has served as general manager of the district since July, 1958, when he ended five years of service as California's director of finance.

President Adrien J. Falk praised Peirce for guiding the district "through a trying period of five years during which there were many serious and difficult problems."

"Mr. Peirce's decision is a very wise one, and he will be of great benefit to the district in his new position."

LOOK BOTH WAYS WHEN BACKING

Retail Salesman WITH A FUTURE

Goodyear has several desirable openings for men under 30 who wish to learn the retail tire and accessory business.

These are permanent positions with excellent opportunities for advancement with the world's largest rubber company. Retail experience helpful but not necessary. Must be at least high school graduate.

Company benefits include life and hospitalization insurance and pension plan; all free of cost to employees. Straight salaries paid semi-monthly. Convenient interviews will be arranged for those who qualify, if necessary at night, on Saturday or Sunday.

Reply by letter only, giving education and business background, also include inexpensive photo and telephone number. All letters will be answered and kept strictly confidential.
